THE FLEUR DE LIS PRESENTS:

A CITIZEN IN THE MAKING

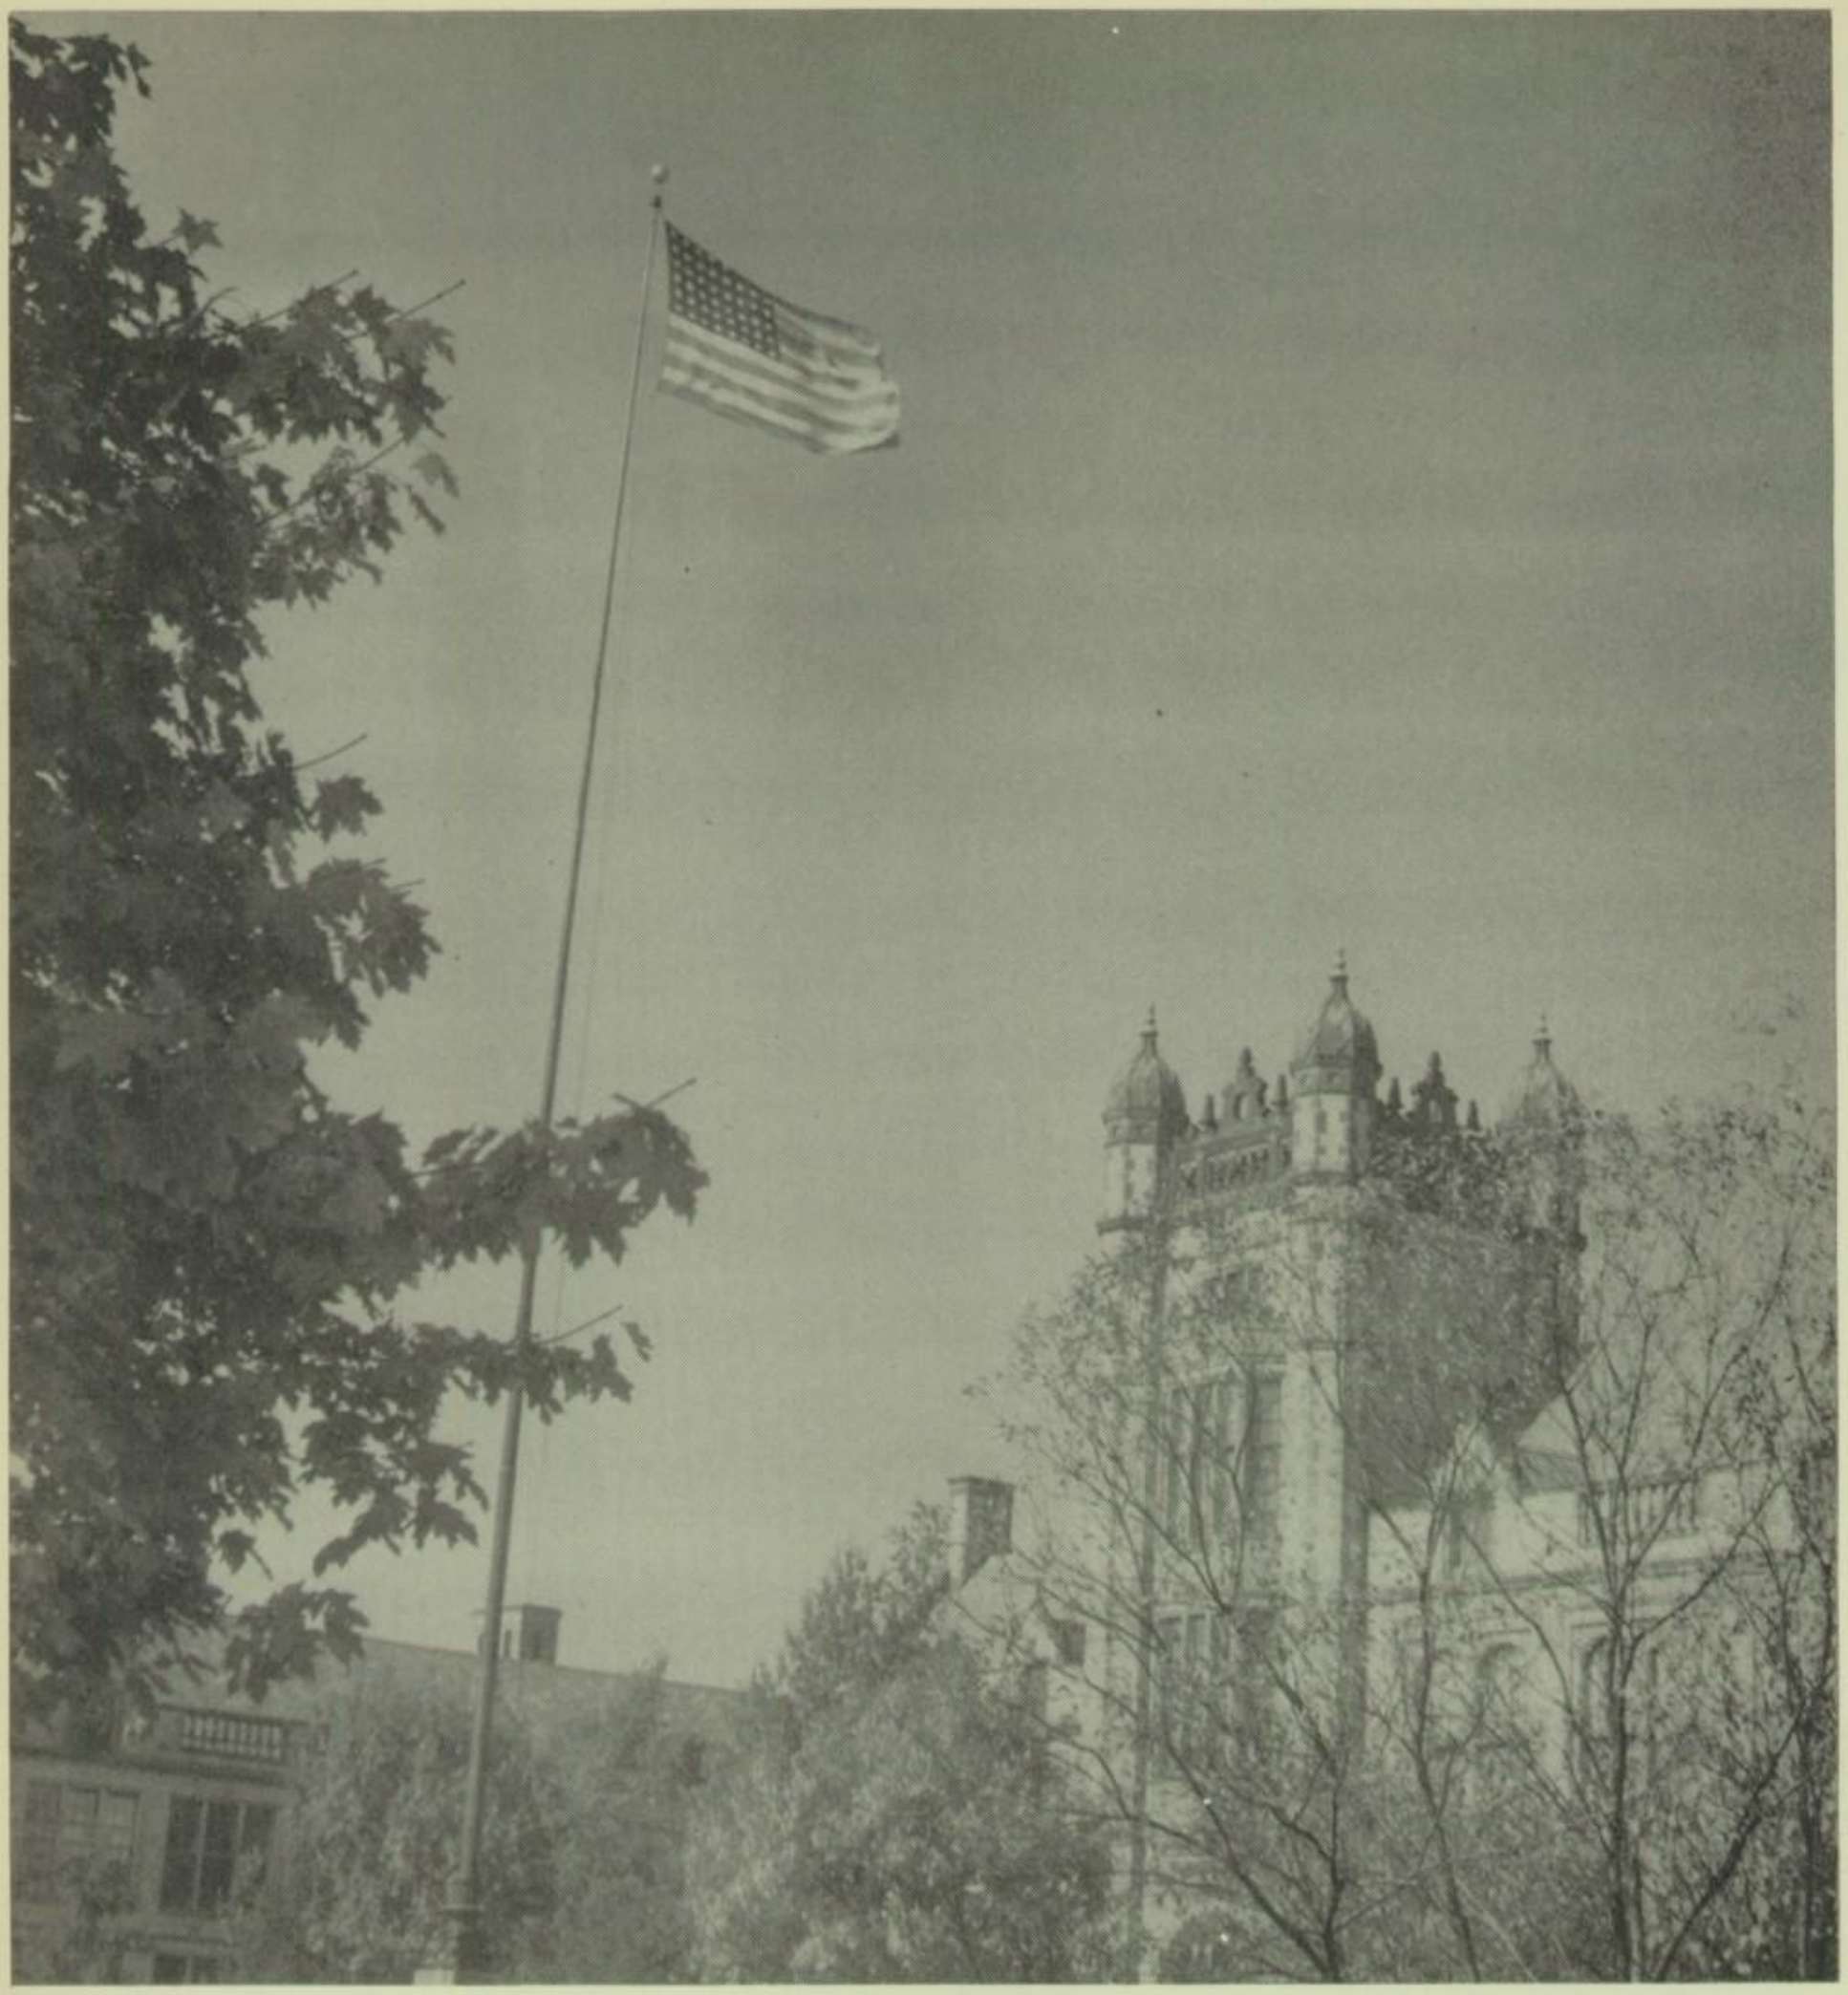
At one time in the history of American schools the teaching of the three R's was the beginning and the end of education. Today we realize that reading, writing, and arithmetic are merely useful tools to help us become worthwhile citizens in a democracy. Where do we learn the meaning of citizenship? Obviously, in the public schools.

Citizenship means more today than at any other time in American history. With foreign thrones crumbling and other systems tottering, we cling desperately to a privilege that we have taken for granted.

Students realize that this citizenship is a give and take proposition, that those who take all and give nothing represent the greatest dangers to our way of life.

The schools of today are developing their programs to meet the changing needs of our democratic society. To help students prepare themselves to make constructive contributions to their community and nation, the schools try to help them discover their abilities and interests. Truly, it is the individuals who take advantage of the offerings of the school who develop into the valuable citizens of tomorrow.

With these ideas in mind, the Fleur de Lis presents for your approval "A Citizen in the Making". It is the hope of the editors that in these pages you may find a pictorial story that will bring back fond memories in future years and more important, portray the spirit of Fordson High School today.



United in purpose--The American School and The American Flag

And all ye need to know."

FORDSON JUNIOR COLLEGE

The Fordson Junior College, consisting of the 13th and 14th grades, was opened for the first time in September, 1938, following action of the Fordson Board of Education after approval of such action had been shown by the electors of the Fordson School District in the previous annual school election. The graduating class of this June is the second group of young people to complete the work in this unit of the Fordson School System.

The Fordson Junior College, from its beginning, has tried to be more to the community than the older type of junior college. It has never had for its sole purpose the training of students for transfer to higher institutions, although this type of training is offered to all that feel they want it and will profit from it. Many of the college programs are of a terminal nature in that they are complete in themselves, giving the student the benefit of two additional years of training in the business, industrial, technical, artistic, and cultural fields. Educators, business men, and industrialists have been pleased with the products of these terminal courses, for with two years of beyond high school training the junior college graduate can offer his employer an educational background decidedly superior to that of the high school graduate.

As a training ground for future college work the junior college is a great money saver. Here two years of regular college work may be taken while the student continues to live at home. Without a large expenditure he has a splendid opportunity to find out in which lines he is most likely to succeed.

The Fordson Junior College has shown a steady growth from the time of its founding and as the years pass it will surely become a vital agency in the educational, cultural, commercial and industrial activities of the community.

Ambitious J. C. Students study a flyer as part of their Civilian Pilot Training Course.

The girls prepare for a hilarious game of "Coed's Foot Race" at one of the many J. C. picnics.

Above: Eyes are skyward, looking, looking--for a shoe. Yes, these J. C. "kids" are having another picnic, and this time they are having a shoe kicking contest.

Right: A strong look of determination comes over these boys as they participate in a medicine ball game. We hope they won.

CLASS HISTORY

Time: Three years ago
Place: Fordson High School
Characters: About 600 very green 10B's

Yes, that was the setting for the first act of our high school careers. It seemed such an immense task to us wobbly-kneed sophomores to tackle. We thought we could never get into the swing of things. However, within five weeks we were ready to "do or die" for Fordson.

At that ime it seemed to us that to be a senior would be the fulfillment or our most ardent dreams.

The indescribable excitement which we felt at our first football game will never be forgotten. It opened the gates to a new kind of entertainment, one that was composed of fellow students who made us proud to be behind them.

The second act brought us our first independence, the right to elect our own officers. In them we trusted the planning and giving or the traditional J-Hop. We thought the navy was in for that was the theme of the decoration as we marched down the gangplank to the melodies of Gene Owen's orchestra.

In our junior year another honor was added to Fordson's many. We saw our basketball team go to the State finals under the competent coaching of MR. CATHERMAN.

As seniors, we reached the grand finals of our entire education. Though we never thought of it before, we began to realize that in a few months we would be out in the world and on our own. We would no longer have the guidance of our teachers who spent so many years polishing off the rough edges and preparing us for future citizenship.

And so the curtain falls. Our caps and gowns, symbols of our achievement. are discarded with the determination to go forth and reach the highest goal.

To Work We Must Go...

MR. GRIPTON, placement director, is checking the applications filled out by GLORIA ALLEN and EDWARD CZEKAJ. Here they are shown making an effort to obtain work so as not to become a burden to society. They are but two of the many prospective graduates who realize the vital problem which is facing them, the problem of becoming good citizens and of contributing something worthy to the welfare of their community.

A Word From the Wise is Sufficeint...

BOB GRIFFIN is listening intensively to some sound advice offered by one of the boy's advisors, MR. WONDERS. They are striving to establish a concrete idea of BOB'S future ambition and the course he will follow to achieve his goal.

Hot Off the Press...

Absorbed in the Senior Edition of the Tower Tribune HENRY CAPRARO is but one of the students who appreciate the fine work of the staff that edit the school paper. The paper is published solely on the responsibility of the students and both the initiative and the originality of the students shows that our system of education is helping students to understand clearly the meaning of cooperation.

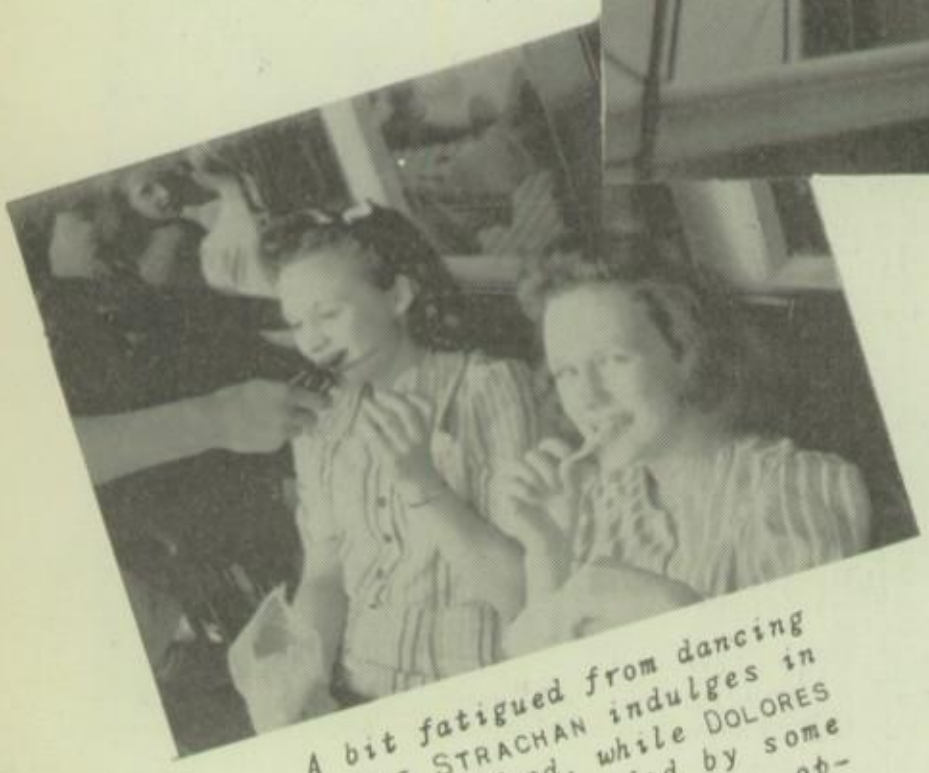
Thirst is King...

Two future citizens are taking their last drink from the colorful tiled Senior Fountain before they each take a different fork in the road of life. Both JOYCE SMITH and OLGA LYSHAK have been fortunate to receive such a fine education by which they will surely benefit.

Ahoy There Mates....

With the 'toot' of the ship's whistle, the heart of every senior aboard leaped with excitement as the crowded boat pulled out slowly from the downtown harbor for its destiny, "Put-In-Bay".

On board the students danced to the ship's orchestra with the rock and roll of the boat upon the foaming waves. After glorious hours of sailing 'land ahead' was heard coming from the bow of the ship every eager eye turned toward the direction of the appearing land.



A bit fatigued from dancing GRACE STRACHAN indulges in a bit of food, while DOLORES SPANBERGER is fed by some unknown member of the opposite sex.

The two lads who appear to be extremely camera shy are CHARLES MCGREGOR and HENRY NIKKEL, both boys prefer to sit and admire the scenics in review.

In the distance the Commodore Perry Memorial loomed up on the horizon and soon all on board were scurring to gather their belongings before the boat docked.

Once on the island of Put-In-Bay the students scattered in every conceivable direction to enjoy themselves before the S.S. Put-In-Bay returned to carry them home.

With the last moment of memorable enjoyment ended and with the last penny spent the mass of tired souls again gather by the railings and watch, as MR. PARKER and ROBERT HYRKAS are doing, the hazy green island sink slowly into the foaming waters.

ANN GIDILEWICH

"Could you remove this blemish and deepen my dimple?"

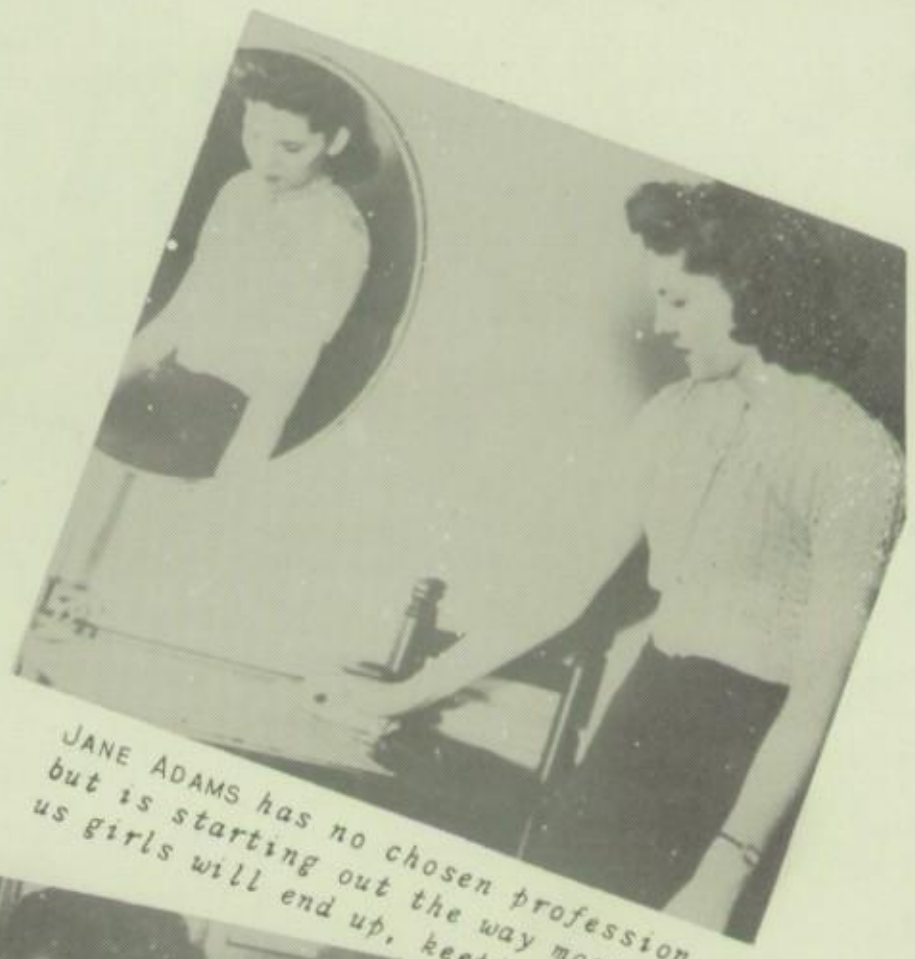
Just a ring, but it brings back all of the happiness we knew in our high-school years.

BEATRICE TREVARROW, DONNA HALL, MERLE STOLL, and JUANTIA ASHCRAFT.

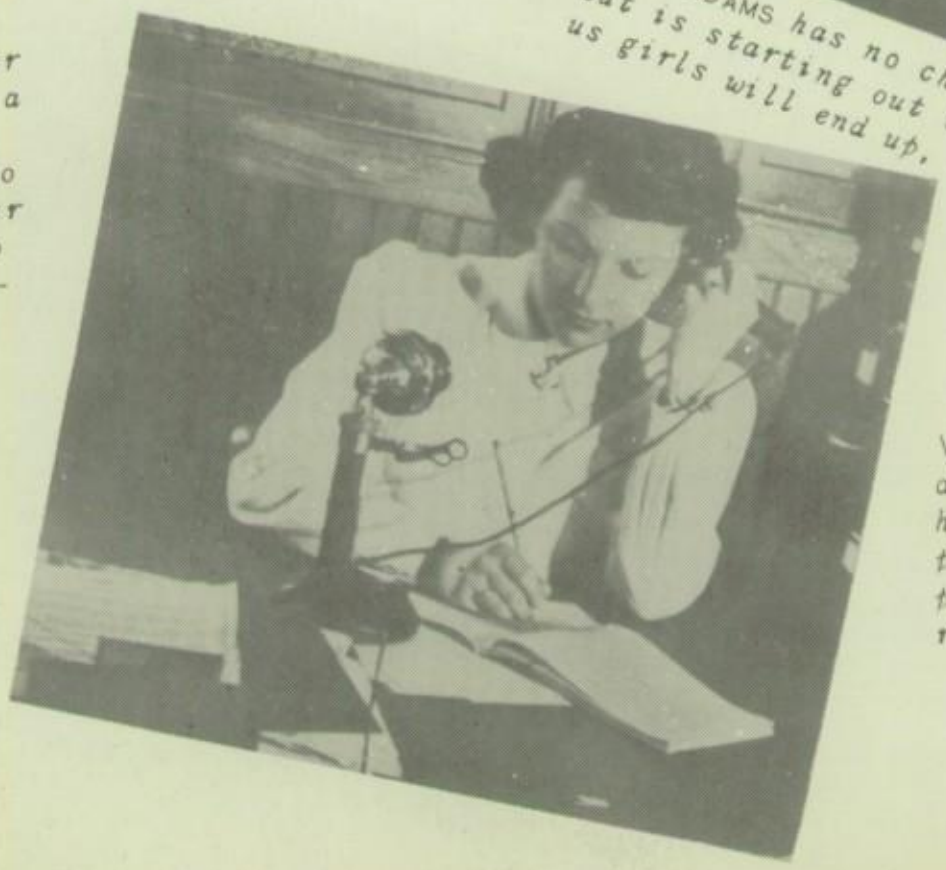
Lets go looking into the future with a few of our Seniors. MR. ESHLEMAN seems to have convinced TONY LORENTE that Junior College is the place to go.

STAN SLAZINSKI hopes to follow in his father's footsteps and become a dentist while MABLE LEWIS will settle on any kind of a career as long as she can be a nurse.

MARY ARZOIAN has her heart set on being a dress designer. Perhaps in years to come we will see her name attached to many famous crestions.



JANE ADAMS has no chosen profession but is starting out the way most of us girls will end up, keeping houre.



VIRGINIA GOOD certainly doesn't want to spend all her life answering telephones but it will be a part of her job as a secretary.

MR. KENNETH MACLEOD LORRAINE SEELEY

LORRAINE feels she can "lick the world" now, and MR. MACLEOD hopes she will feel the same way in years to come.

Over 600 Seniors assemble for the last time; the grand finale to three exciting years of high school life. Singing of the school song by the glee club, graduation speeches, and finally the presentation of diplomas marks another milestone in our lives.

In future years when we hear the strains of "Pomp and Circumstances" our minds will turn back to that night of commencement and memories of our Alma Mater.

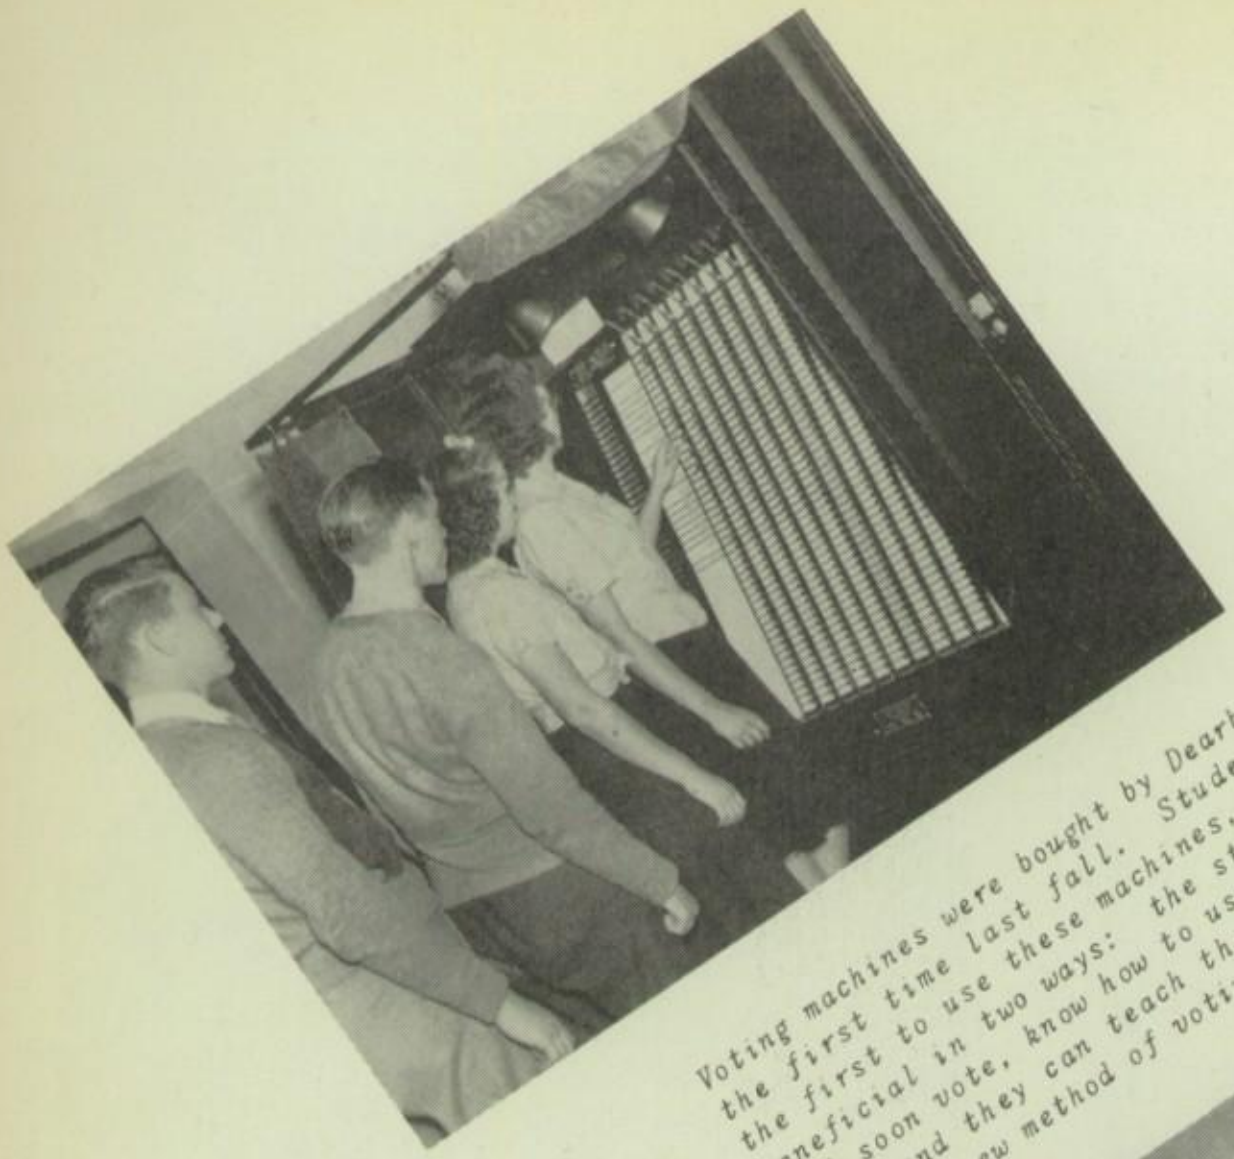
There are various courses that a student may choose from such as: college preparatory, general, commercial, and industrial. After the student has decided upon which one he desires he takes classes designated for that course and classes of his own choosing, called electives.

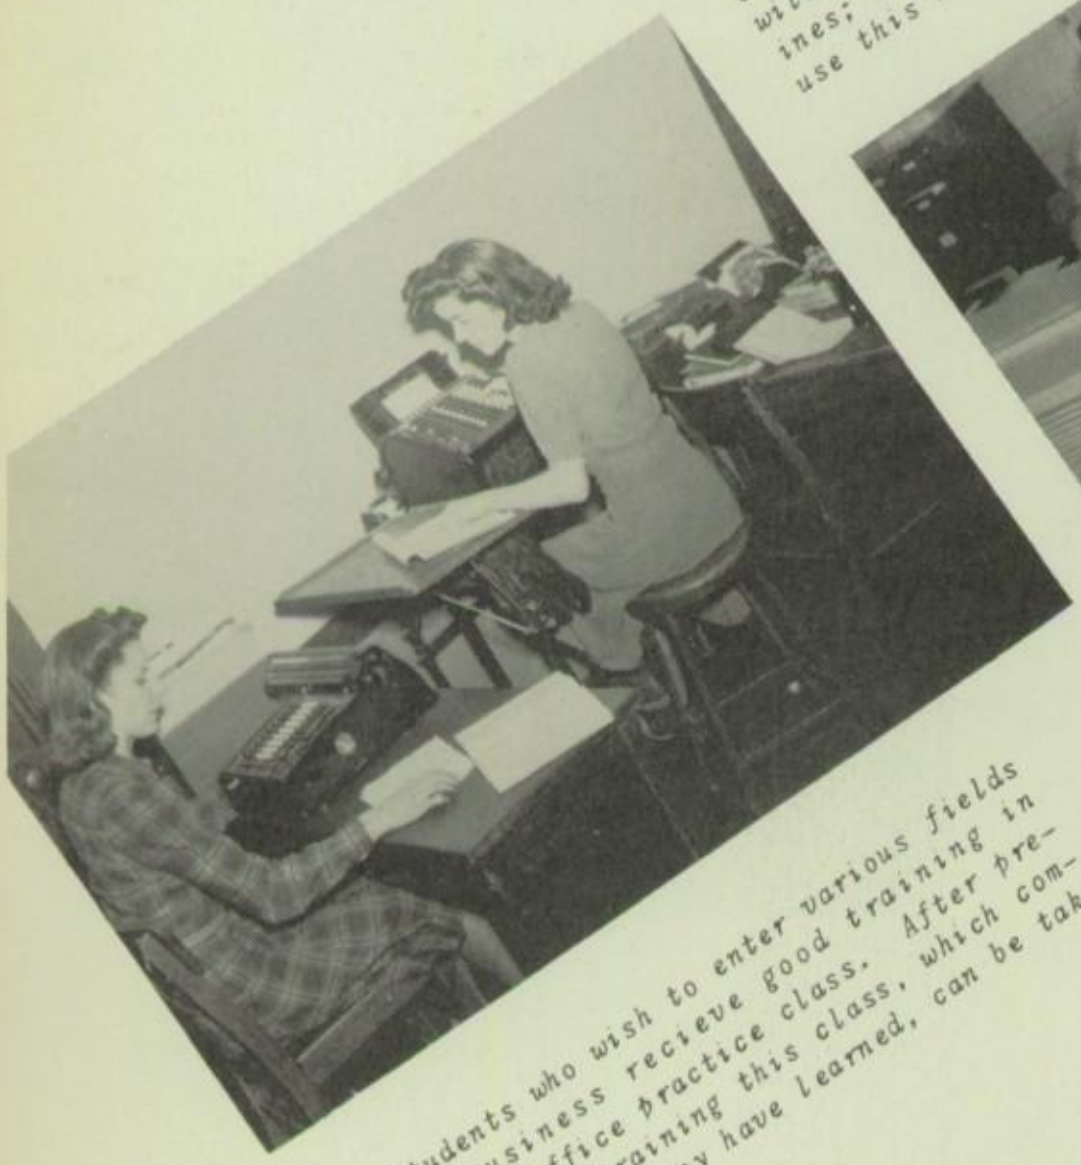
The feature section in this year's annual will be found in various parts of the book. Following the senior, junior, and sophomore sections pictures of students show the outstanding event, troubles, or occasions of that class and the subjects that are offered. Subjects portrayed in each unit are not necessarily those taken by students pictured in the preceeding section.

As much a part of the last few days in highschool of a senior as the cap and gown is the camera. Snapshots in the future will recall familiar faces and places and will bring many hours of enjoyment.

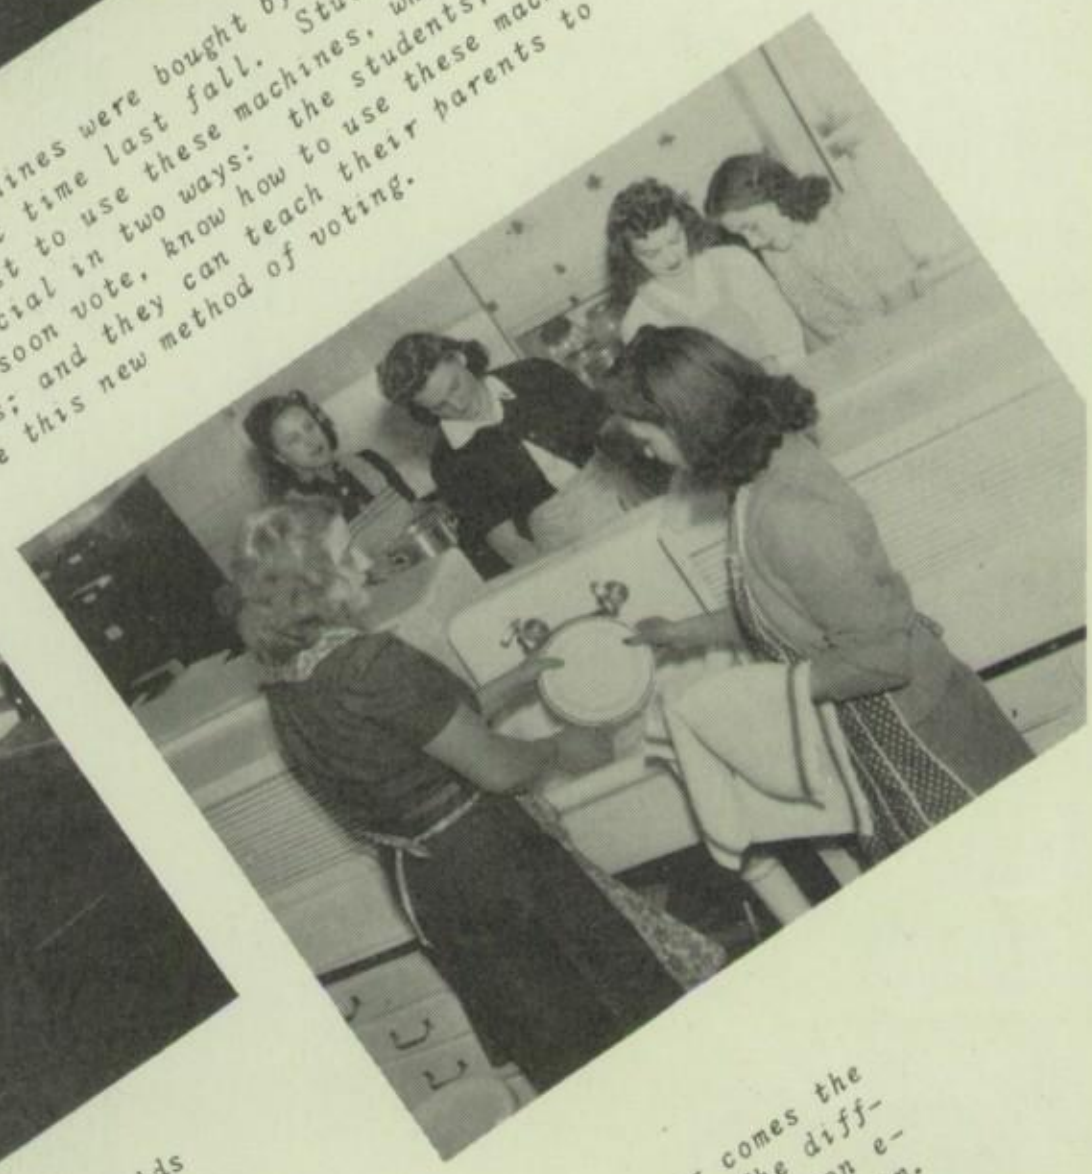
The first "legal" drink from the senior fountain marks eleven years of education in the past and only one more year of hugh school. This colorful fountain is located across the hall from the library and was donated by the senior class of 1928.



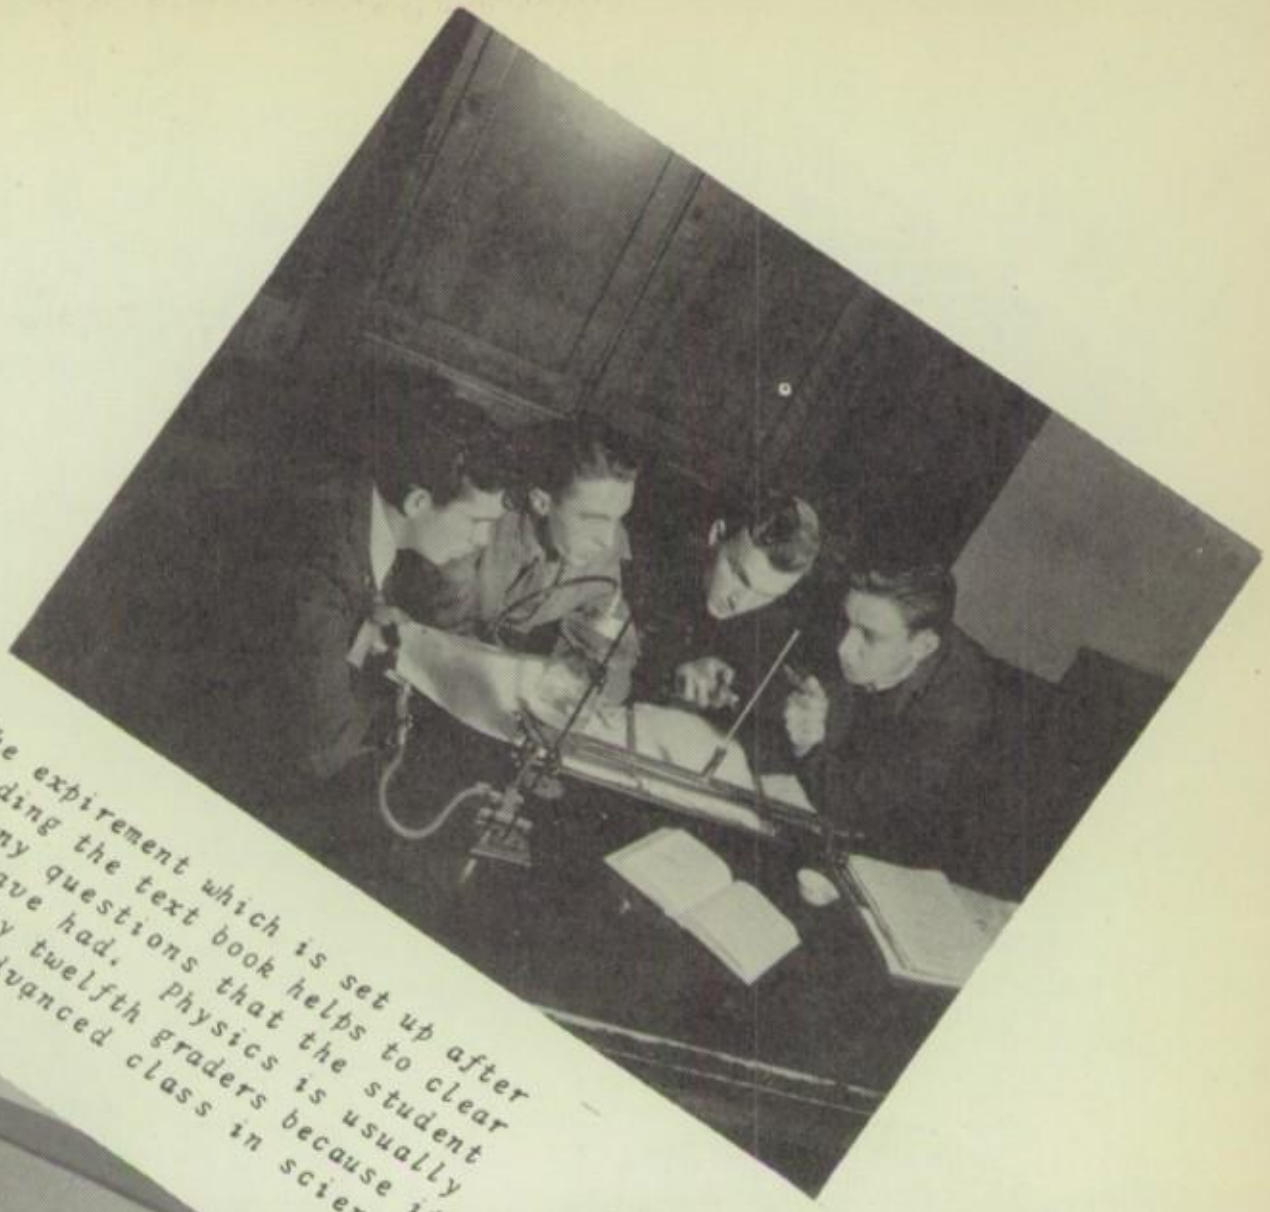
Voting machines were bought by Dearborn for the first time last fall. Students were the first to use these machines, which was beneficial in two ways: the students, who will soon vote, know how to use these machines; and they can teach their parents to use this new method of voting.



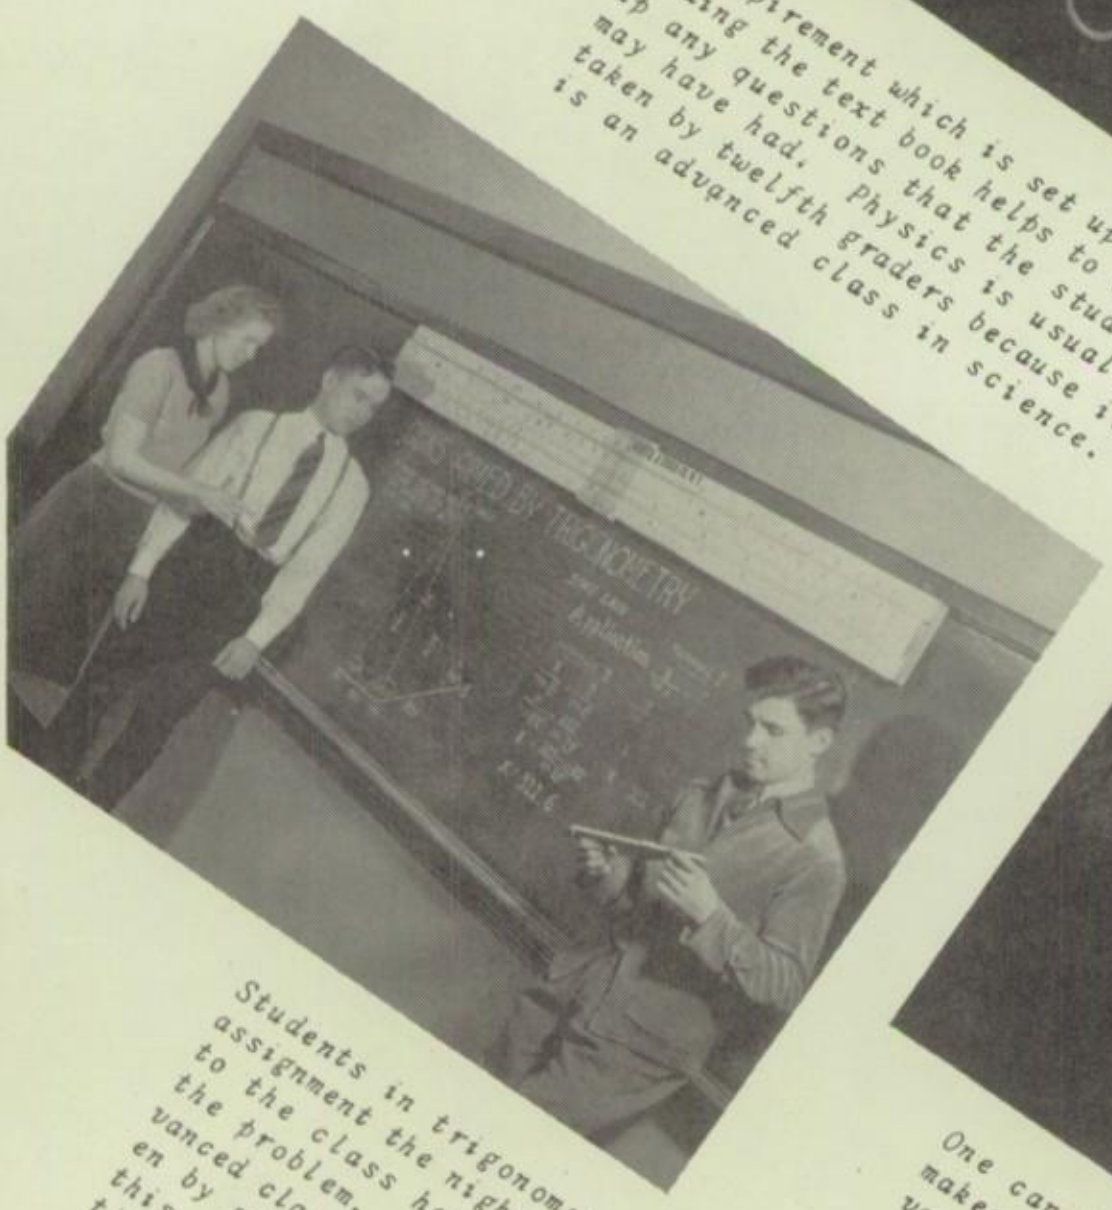
Students who wish to enter various fields of business recieve good training in their office practice class. After preliminary training this class, which combines what they have learned, can be taken.



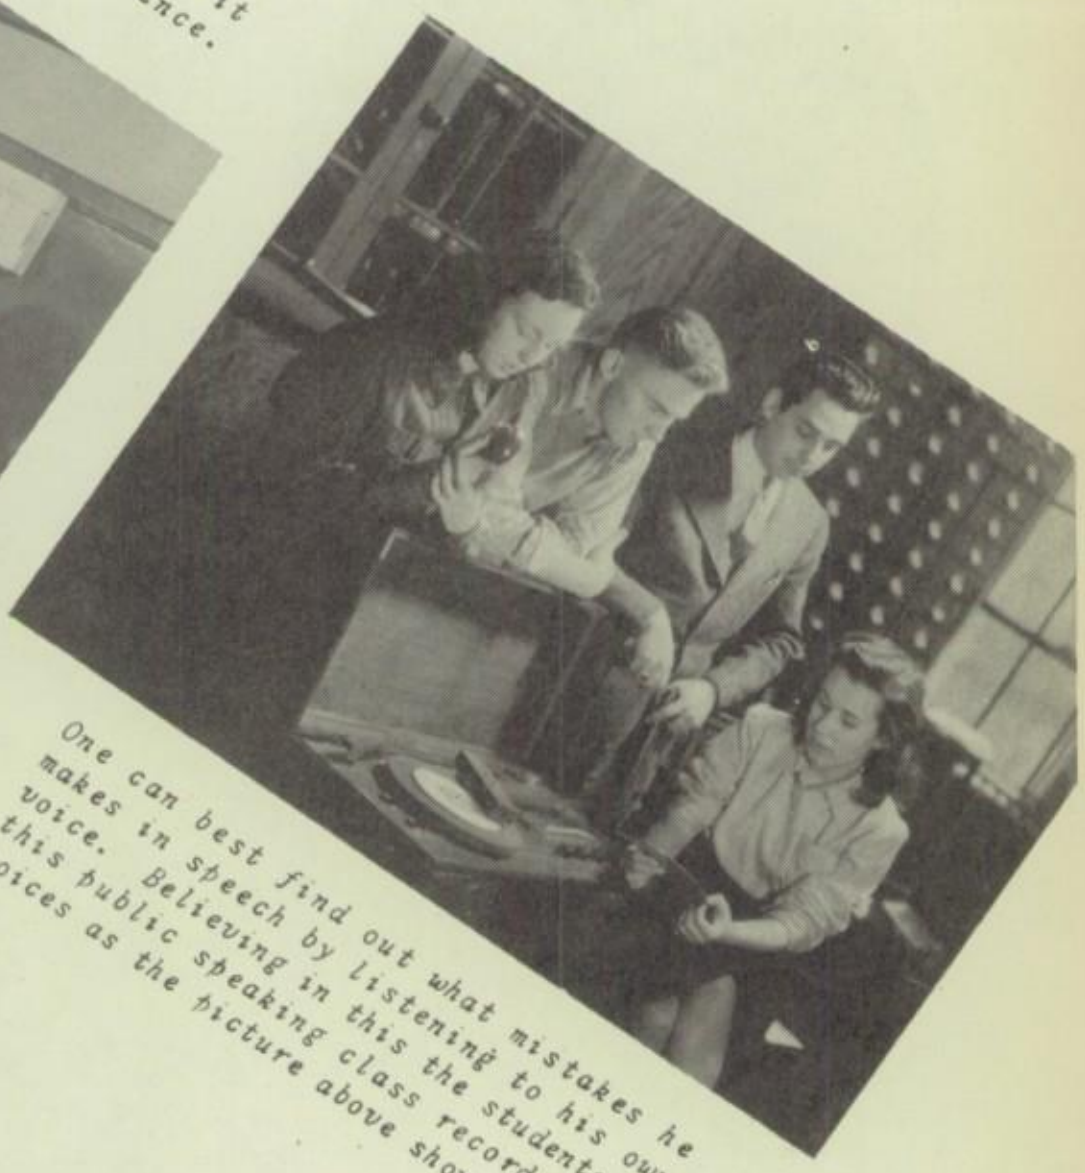
After cooking and eating comes the process of cleaning up. The different jobs are shared and soon every kitchenette is shick and shan. New recipes, ways of saving money, and "short cuts" in cooking will have practical value in the near future to these girls.



The expirement which is set up after reading the text book helps to clear up any questions that the student may have had. Physics is usually taken by twelfth graders because it is an advanced class in science.



Students in trigonometry, after an assignment the night before, explain to the class how they figured out the problem. Trigonometry, an advanced class in mathematics, is taken by students who are majoring in this subject and will probably continue taking it in their advanced schooling.



One can best find out what mistakes he makes in speech by listening to his own voice. Believing in this the students of this public speaking class record their voices as the picture above shows.

A part of the many things done in play production is learning how to apply make-up. BILL HERMAN is the victim while ED RUNGE, BOB WARD, AND AL PASIUK go to work with the cold cream and the cheese cloth.

Horticulture is an interesting class but it becomes more interesting when trips can be taken, as was done by these students who posed with the tractors.

The students of the art department supply the school with posters for advertising various dances and other events that may occur throughout the school year.

MRS. ELIZBETH EDWARDS, the school nurse, helps students in so many ways. Here she is checking the eye sight of a student, who may fail to realize that she is in need of glasses.

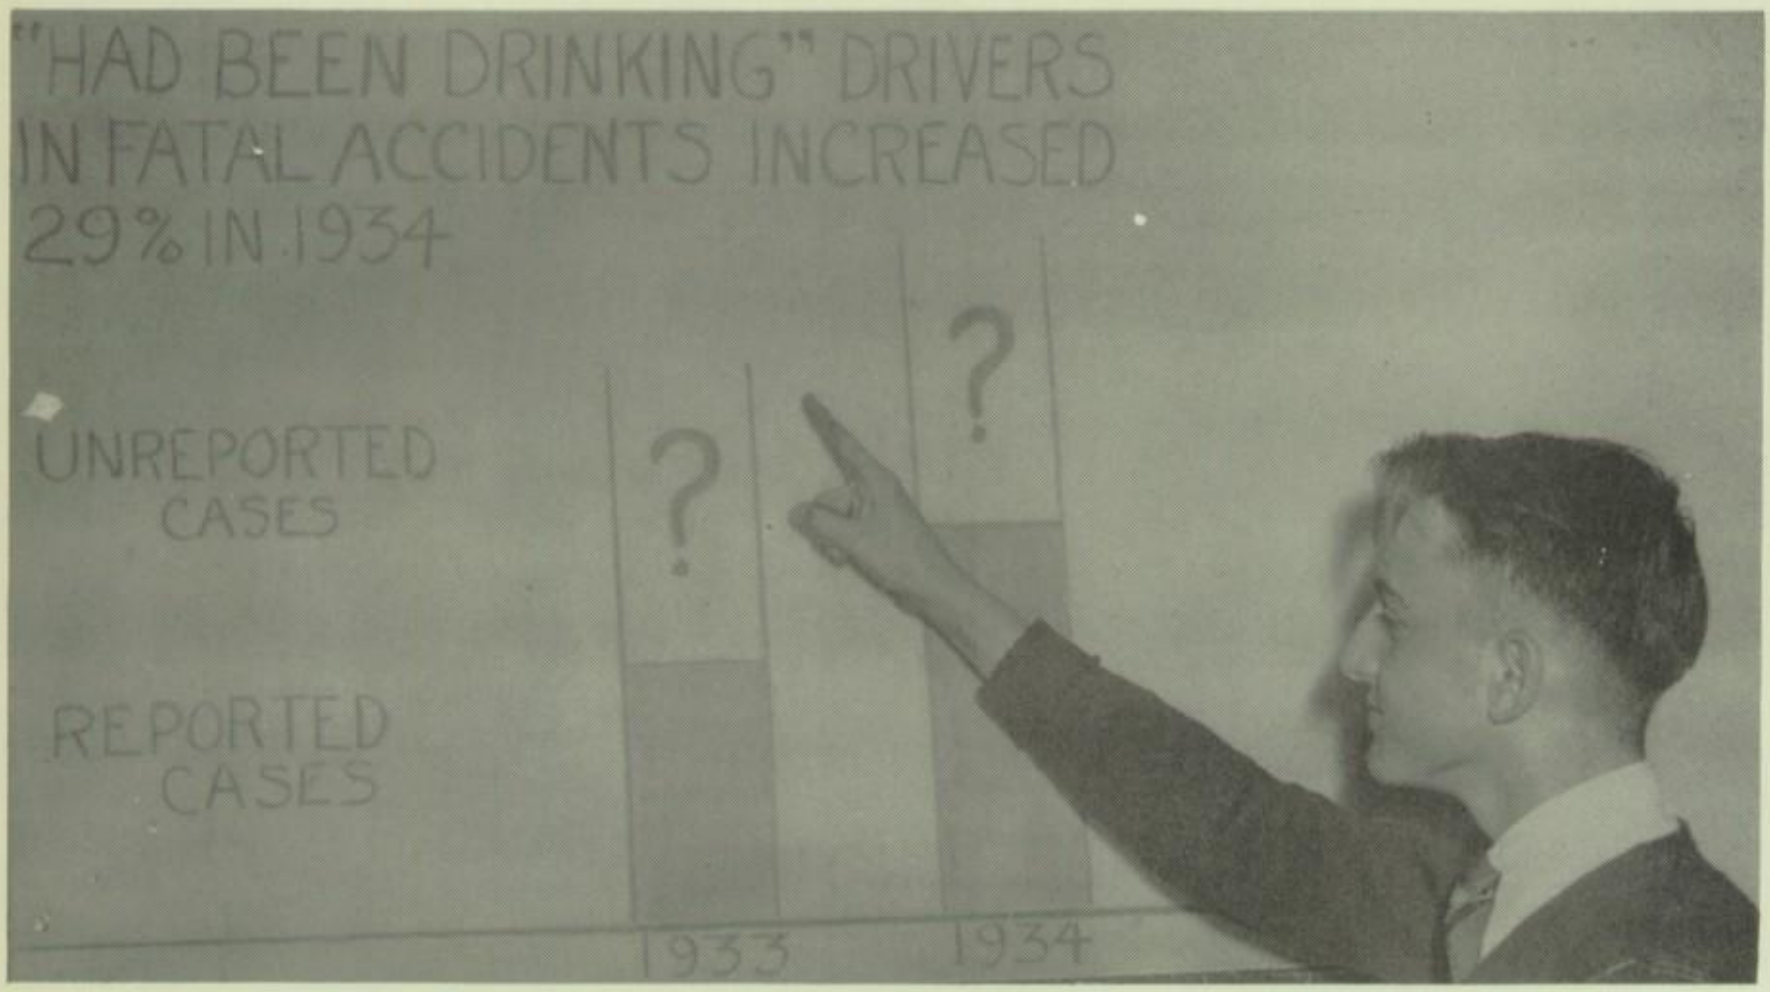
HOMEROOM DISCUSSIONS

EFFECTS OF NARCOTICS AND LIQUOR



Our biology department is showing citizens of tomorrow the dangers of alcoholic beverages and narcotics to one's future health and to the welfare of others. From charts of the internal body structure the students see the effects on important parts of the body from the use of drink and narcotics.

SAFETY FIRST

The safe-driving class under the direction of MR. ODGERS strives to become future skilled drivers. With better drivers the roads will be safer.

HOW TO STUDY

Students talking to their fellow classmates, studying the mural, or doing their assignments are the results of instructions on how to study.

Exciting plays and the home team scoring a touchdown are enjoyed more when one is warm and well-dressed as FERGUS STEPHEN and ESTHER DINGFELDT who are shown above.

AMID THE CHRISTMAS WRAPPINGS

MIND YOUR MANNERS

The Homeroom Representatives is a group of students composed of one representative from each homeroom. The duty of this group is to bring to the attention of the school ideas of the student body.

It also takes orders for the Fleur de Lis and assists in aiding the student council to gather opinions, formulate and work out ideas for a constructive program of student activities.

A junior's dream come true, he is taking his best girl to the J-Hop, sponsored by his own class. This event is important for it leaves the warmest glow in the heart of the students memories as a junior.

Pencils glide along the notebook as dictation is given in shorthand. This class has a practical value as the commercial student can use it in the work he perhaps will be doing in the future.

High school students should be well informed about conditions abroad and in their own country. One hour of the social science class is devoted to reading the American Observer, a paper that reviews the news and gives other information.

Knowing how to make her own clothes is an asset to any girl. After making her housecoat OLGA DASKO calls on her classmate, DOROTHY SCHULTZ, to help her put up the hem. Many different types of clothes are made in the sewing classes.

ANNE GIDILEWICH seems to be trying to say something difficult, but it's only the simple word "no." Students in public speaking classes have ample opportunities to get up in front of people and talk. Being able to do this, it may prove valuable to students some day.

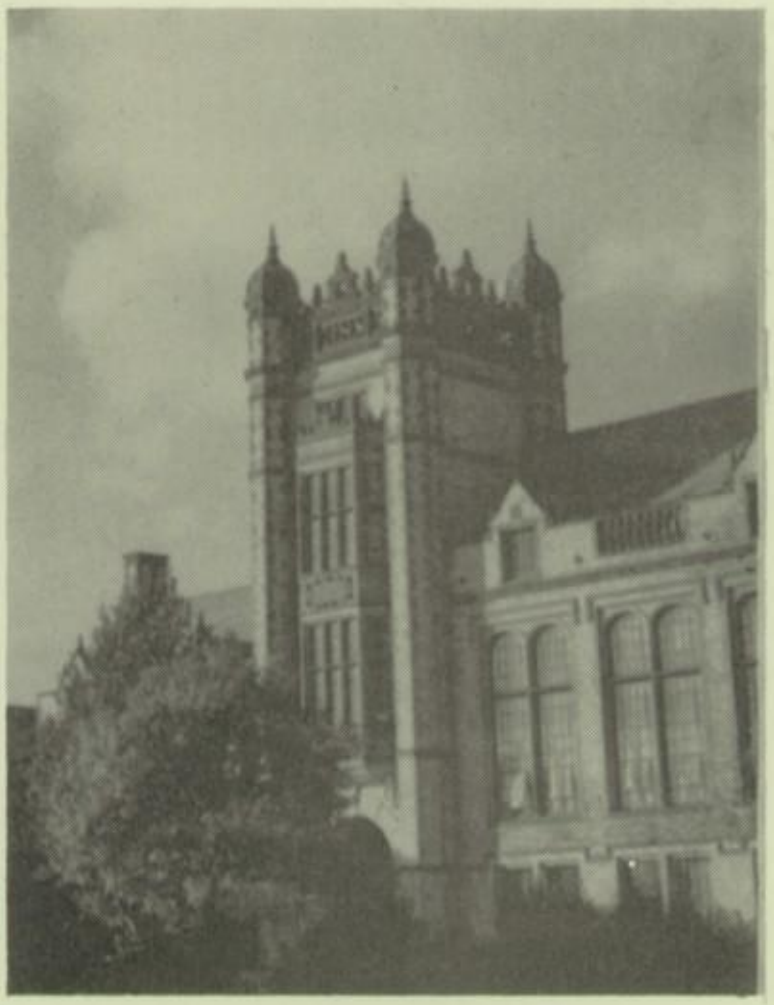
Students in art classes enjoy the work they do, because it is a class of their own choosing. The posters shown in this picture were painted for a display held during American Education Week, an event which comes once a year. The purpose of it is to let the parents come to the school and see what their children are doing.

Different types of charts and graphs were being studied at the time when this picture was taken. Not only do students learn about charts and graphs in this social mathematics class but also many interesting facts.

Not only are students taught how to drive in a safe driving course but also how to meet difficulties that always happen. The automobile that the students learn to drive in is all white and has dual controls is pictured here with the three girls that are trying to jack up the car.

English courses at Fordson consist of grammar and literature. Pictured here are students who are doing drills from an English book. American and English literature when it is taught opens many new fields of reading and spurs the students on into reading better literature.

FORDSON'S TOWER TELLS THE FACTS



I'm just a tower on Fordson High School. Since the building was dedicated in 1928 I've stood here and watched. From where I'm situated I can easily see the 16.58 acres of Fordson's campus.

For almost 200 days of the year I watch 2,600 students come from all directions to this $2,625,666 structure which is built of Briar Hall limestone and is styled after the law buildings at the Universities of Michigan and Yale. This English Renaissance building is beautified by $25,000 worth of beautiful landscaping and shrubbery.

These students walk through the halls and enter Up different classrooms on whose walls hang 173 pictures. They sit on 4,913 chairs and use 960 tables. They study in two large halls and a beautiful library upon whose shelves are placed 16,000 books. Altogether they use and enjoy over $415,00 worth of equipment, and every year an additional $2,000 is spent for new textbooks.

To my left is the large auditiorium which seats 1,250 students who come here to enjoy themselves at assemblies. Here programs are presented by the student body, music and dramatic departments, and outside speakers.

On weekends when no students go to school, I often look to see what's in back of me. The green football field stretches out to meet the $125,000 stadium which seats 3,500 people. It's so much fun to watch the many students get excited at the football games. Practically all the time when the weather is warm I can hear the musical sound of the tennis raquets as they hit the balls thats fly back and forth on the eight tennis courts or the crack of the bat as the ball flies through the air over the baseball diamond.

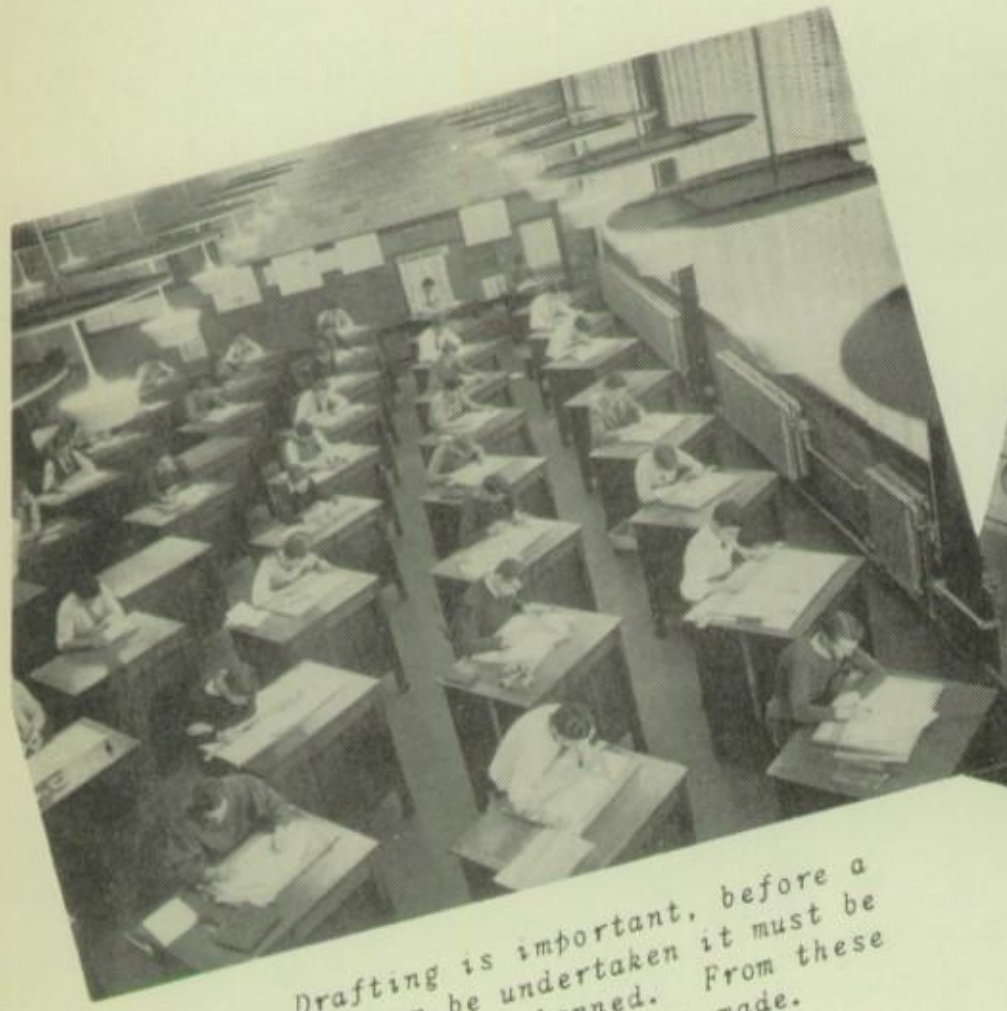
A 10B can usually be spotted in the halls because of the bewildered look on his face. This is especially true at the beginning of each semester when they are unable to find their class rooms. This sophomore doesn't seem to benefit much from the upperclassmen he asked for help.

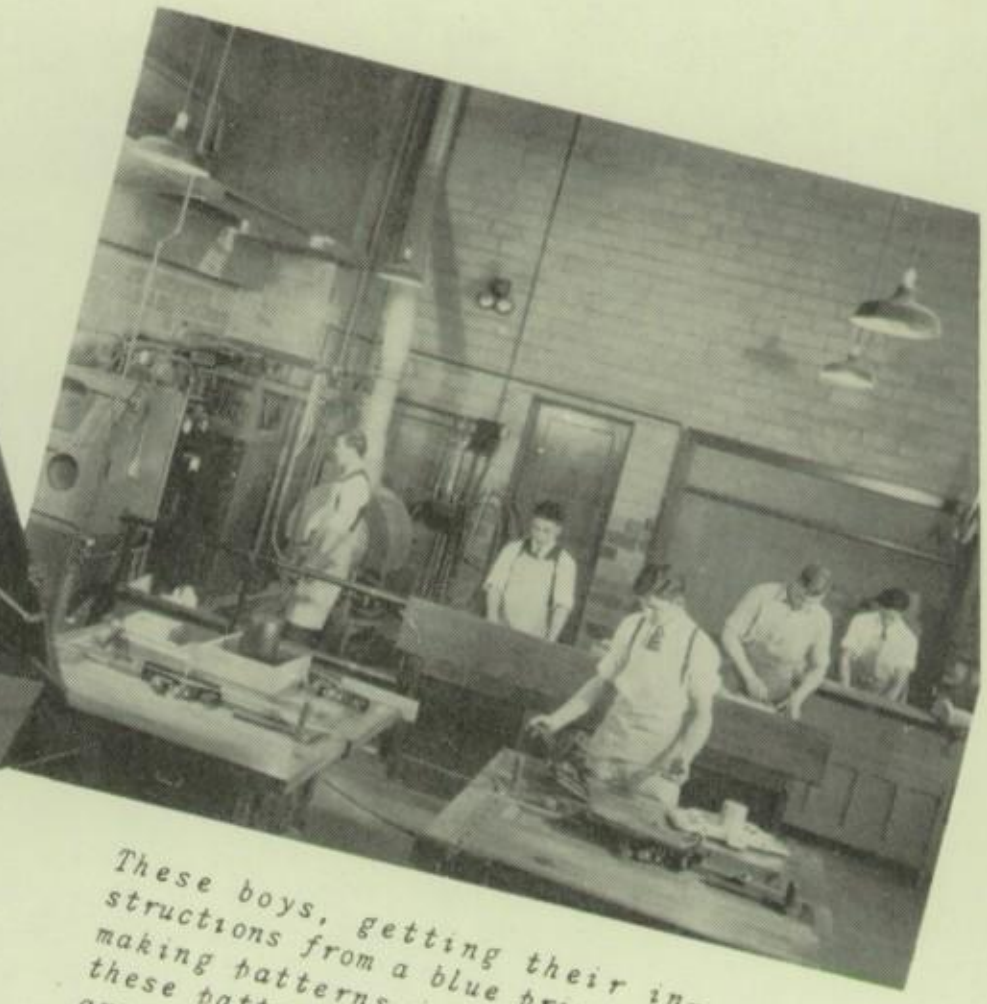
Upon entering the school the sophomore is given a locker the number of which he carefully writes down. Then he proceeds to find the locker and he does. Hopeful and confident he turns the knob to the left then to the right--the locker does-not open. A smile on her face a senior, remembering her own difficulties, takes pity and gives careful instructions on how to open the locker.

Before trying to solve any problems the students become acquainted with the various instruments they will use in the future. A little cooperation is necessary as the students examine a protractor in this geometry class.

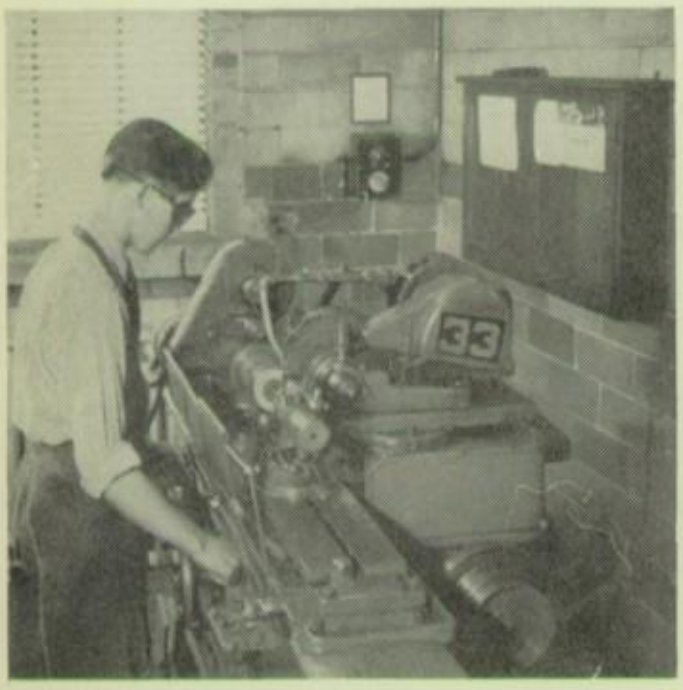
The industrial department has many shops but just a few of the many interesting ones are shown here.



Drafting is important, before a job can be undertaken it must be completely planned. From these plans blue prints are made.



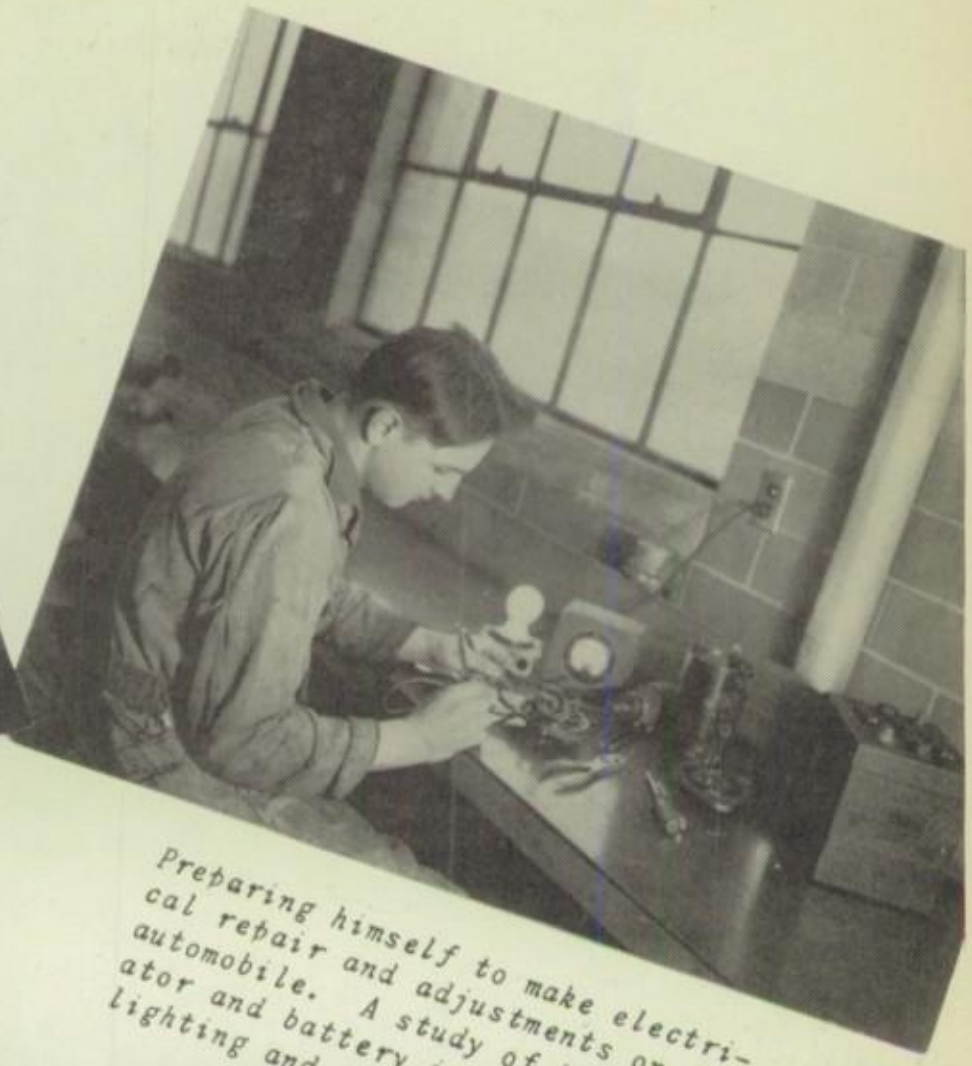
These boys, getting their instructions from a blue print, are making patterns in wood. From these patterns crude metal casts are made.



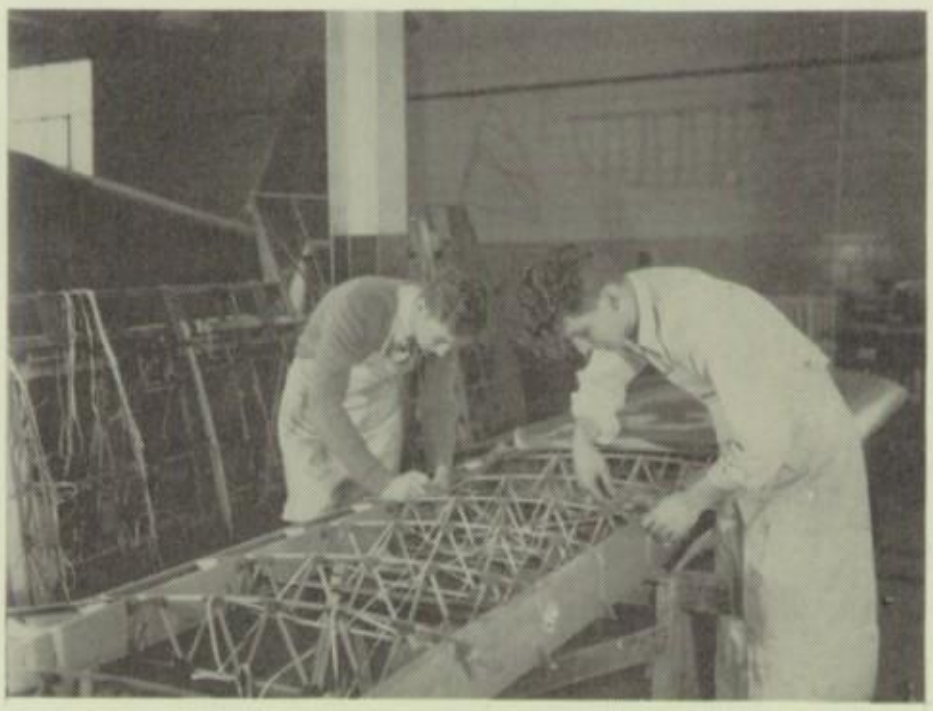
From these metal castings the boys in machine shop are getting machine tool instruction. This boy is operating a sylindrical grinder as one of the operations in machining a casting.

These boys are studying metals in the general shop. This shop affords many opportunities to recieve first hand working experience in various industrial activities.

Here we find boys recieving practice in repair and upkeep of electrical equipment. The motor pictured above is being repaired for a machine in amother shop in the industrial unit.



Preparing himself to make electrical repair and adjustments on the automobile. A study of the generator and battery is a unit of the lighting and starting of a car.



Students interested in aeronautics are rebuilding the wing of an aeroplane. The exactness and perfection of workmanship demands skills in various hand tool operations.

To get the proper rhythm in typing is important; so students type to music, which is helpful and enjoyable. Usually taken by people on the commercial course and often by others typing is an asset to any student.

Experiments are not the only things in biology that are interesting and exciting. Finding out about animal and plant life covers the first semester while during the second semester the students learn about the human body. This covers generally what is studied in this fascinating course.

After training in homemaking classes girls can help prepare the lunches that are served in the cafeteria. This picture is a typical scene of what the girls go in order to help the hired ladies.

Since its formation at the beginning of this school year, the Art Club seems to have done exceedingly well. To MRS. MILDRED LYMAN, its sponsor, goes our respect for having founded a club in which students can give expression to thoughts through the medium of art.

The club's activities are based on what might be called a social scale since there are no definite rules to follow and no formalities to contend with. Each member selects the type of work he wishes to do and them proceeds with it individually. Designing, painting, poster making, and clay molding are but a few of the types of art work provided for.

Weekly gatherings, informal parties, and occasional visits to Art Institutes highlight the club's other activities.

FUTURE CRAFTSMEN OF AMERICA

To promote better citizenship through the encouragement of hard work, and to increase industrial knowledge is the goal toward which the Future Craftsmen of America are working. All boys in Trade Training who maintain at least a C average at all times are eligible for membership.

Club members are given an opportunity to choose the type of work they wish to be because the club is divided into groups, each covering a definite phase of industrial work. These groups include the print shop, the machine shop, the electric shop, and the drafting shop. There are also various smaller sections within these major departments.

The club is run wholly by the members alone with the advice of MR. HARVEY A. SMITH and MR. LEO J. GARDNER who sponsor its activities.

After leaving the hands of the editorial staff all Fleur de Lis copy goes on to the offset Department in our own industrial unit. Here it undergoes a number of processes that are known only to those familiar with the work. Several of the more important processes include varitype compostion, layout, paste-up, photographing, stripping, weighing chemicals, coating zinc plate, printing, plate developing, and finally running the finished product off the presses. We might also add at this point the fact that the Fleur de Lis is one of the very few school annuals that is produced entirely within the school itself.

Almost everybody seems to think that the Girl Reserves is just another club formed for social purposes. However, there are two underlying factors that make it one of the more important organizations--its aim to prevail upon girls to become interested in helping other people, and to help them form lasting friendships.

With these aims in mind, we find Girl Reserves doing work which sometimes indirectly aids us. Take for example ushering at school affairs. Few of us take note of them, but still the fact remains that we would certainly find something amiss if they weren't there. Other activities that stand out and add a touch of the unusual include parties at the Y. W. C. A., a State Conference twice yearly, and ushering at the Michigan Theater for Good Friday Services.

Hi-Y boys make a habit of getting together for an evening's entertainment at home.

The Lost and Found Department is supervised by the Hi-Y clubs.

A junior branch of the Y.M.C.A., this organization endeavors to create, maintain, and extend, throughout the school and community, high standards of Christian character. The five C's of its platform are Clean Living, Clean Athletics, Clean Speech, Clean Scholarship, and Christian Character. Its members join in devotions, discussions, service, and recreation.

Any candidate may secure, from any active member, an application on which he states his reason for wishing to join and secures his parents' signature. After a conference the sponsor approves the application if the boy has a definite purpose and is judged worthy of membership.

——SINGING ISN'T ALL WORK——

Band and Orchestra members make it a point to get some practice in during lunch time, and MR. GODFREY gets some work in too.

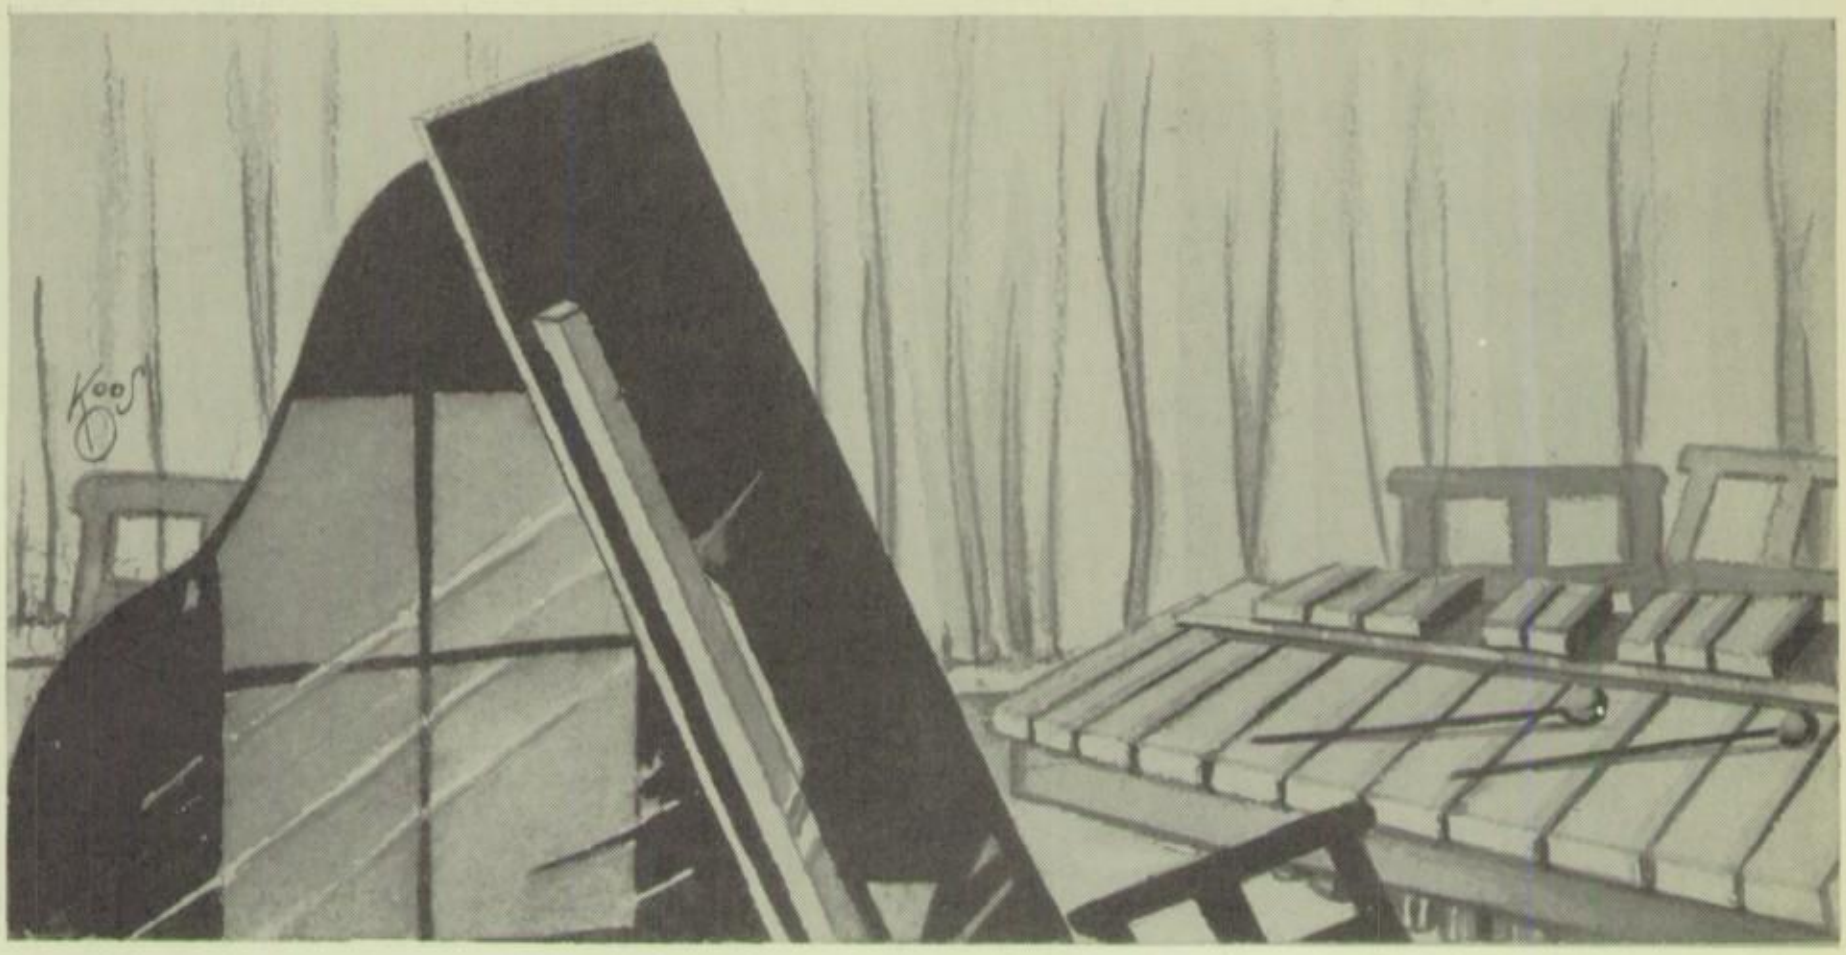
Everybody responds to the stirring rhythms of a band, and so it is with us and our own Fordson High School Band. In lieu of that let's give our band the honors it so rightly deserves, not only for the pleasure it gives us, but also for the opportunities it affords its members.

From a very meager beginning in 1926 under the direction of MR. J. P. GODFREY the band has risen to an enviable position. At that time a combination of music students from three schools--Miller, Salina, and William Ford--made up a band of thirty-two pieces. MR. GODFREY visited these schools to rehearse his individual groups during the week. Then, once a week the whole band was transported by bus to Miller School for a complete practice.

At Salina there was no band room and that presented quite a problem. However, MR. KENNETH M. MACLEOD, our present principal, who taught science there was generous enough and interested enough in the band to let MR. GODFREY have practice in the back of his room while he taught science in the front. How any science was learned or taught is a wonder. The conditions at Miller and Ford were no better, and the boiler room and corrider, respectively, were used for rehearsal.

Each year there has been a marked improvement in the growth and quality of musicianship in the band. Our band is one of the few in this area that can play swing music. MR. GODFREY maintains that jazz is just as difficult as any music and is also beneficial in teaching rhythm and precision to develop first-class musicians. That is why so many Fordsonites have won scholarships at Wayne University and other schools. At present we have sixteen music students at Wayne University on Scholarships, and there have been many others who were unable to accept.

Besides offering both the fun and experience of playing with others, the band under the classification of an extra-curricular activity also provides musical instruction and coaching which many times proves valuable to students after high school.



1926 also marked the beginning of the Fordson High School Orchestra, and because the band and orchestra were so closely connected, the same difficulties that confronted the band confronted it. One violinist, a sixth grade boy, and a combination of brass and reeds comprised that first orchestra. Today there is a sharp contrast for the orchestra now consists of fourteen first violins, six second violins, three violas, four cellos, three basses, and a number of other instruments that are necessary to complete an impressive orchestra.

At the present time the orchestra has at its command three standard symphonies, twelve standard overtures, ten selections, about twenty waltzes, and a vatied selection of program music, including Bacchanale, Dance of the Hours, Dance Macabre, Kamenoi-Ostrow, Nutcracher's Suite, and a number of other suites, symponies, and poems. In its relaxing moments the orchestra indulges in lighter music that is better known.

Our orchestra has one of the finest libraries of music in the state. It varies from BEETHOVEN symphonies to the modern jazz of GERSHWIN, PORTER, and other present day composers. The orchestra's noted ability to sight-read music is due to the variation and frequent changes of music and daily work.

Specialization in individual soloists is not carried on here. The orchestra is an organization that works together as a unit in order to produce good orchestral music. This unit is a combination of four choirs, strings, reeds, brass, and precision.

Only the most advanced members of the band are chosen to play in the orchestra. To these are added the strings which are rehearsed daily. This means that the orchestra is the better of the two organizations since the beginners are eliminated, and the strings are well trained.

The orchestra just as the band has come a long way since its beginning, so let's hope that it, too, continues to go on ahead until it finally reaches the top.

Students who are interested in original writings have an opportunity to discuss and criticize their own products and those of fellow students in the Silver Quill Organization. Meetings, held each Thursday follow a regular schedule: the first in the month is a business meeting; the second, manuscript discussion; the third, a party; the fourth, manuscript discussion.

In addition to working on manuscripts of their own, Silver Quill members publish an annual booklet, "THE SILVER QUILL", which contains the student body's literary attempts. Occasionally they hold candy concessions at football and basketball games.

Although service duties seem to cover a wide range, they are all very much alike. They include checking hall permits, escorting strangers through the building, issueing hall permits to students in the library, and keeping general order in the halls.

Contrary to the belief of many, members of the service squad are not drafted for duty. The entire quad is made up of volunteers with the exception of the chief captain who is appointed by MR. MURRILL WOOLFORD, its sponsor.

Only at the end of the semester do service group members receive a reward. At this time the school board gives a service pin to all who have offered 16 weeks of good service. There are no other awards given. However, in view of that fact, we now take it upon ourselves to give to all service squad members our congratulations for their untiring work.

Second Semester Student Council: ERNEST HOGLIN, BILL LUTZ, PAT CAREY, BOB GRIFFIN, BOB KREFT, VESTA COWARD.

Junior College Council: BILL ALLSOPP, MARY ALICE MAYS, DONALD TABENSKE, JEAN LOWTHER, MERT LINCOLN.

Both the High School Student Council and the Junior College Council are organized along the same lines for the same purpose. That is governing the student body in a democratic and practical manner.

In these councils are vested legislative and executive powers. That includes the making and carrying out of rules and regulations. Under these titles they have power to grant club charters, conduct school elections, supervise clubs, give candy concessions, and take charge of school affairs. Together with these activities the second semester student council is attempting to promote a campaign for more school spirit in all forms.

Usually the Student Council is thought of as merely a governing body, but, underlying that lies the fact that the Student Council helps to close the gap that sometimes lies between teachers and students because all power is placed in one group.

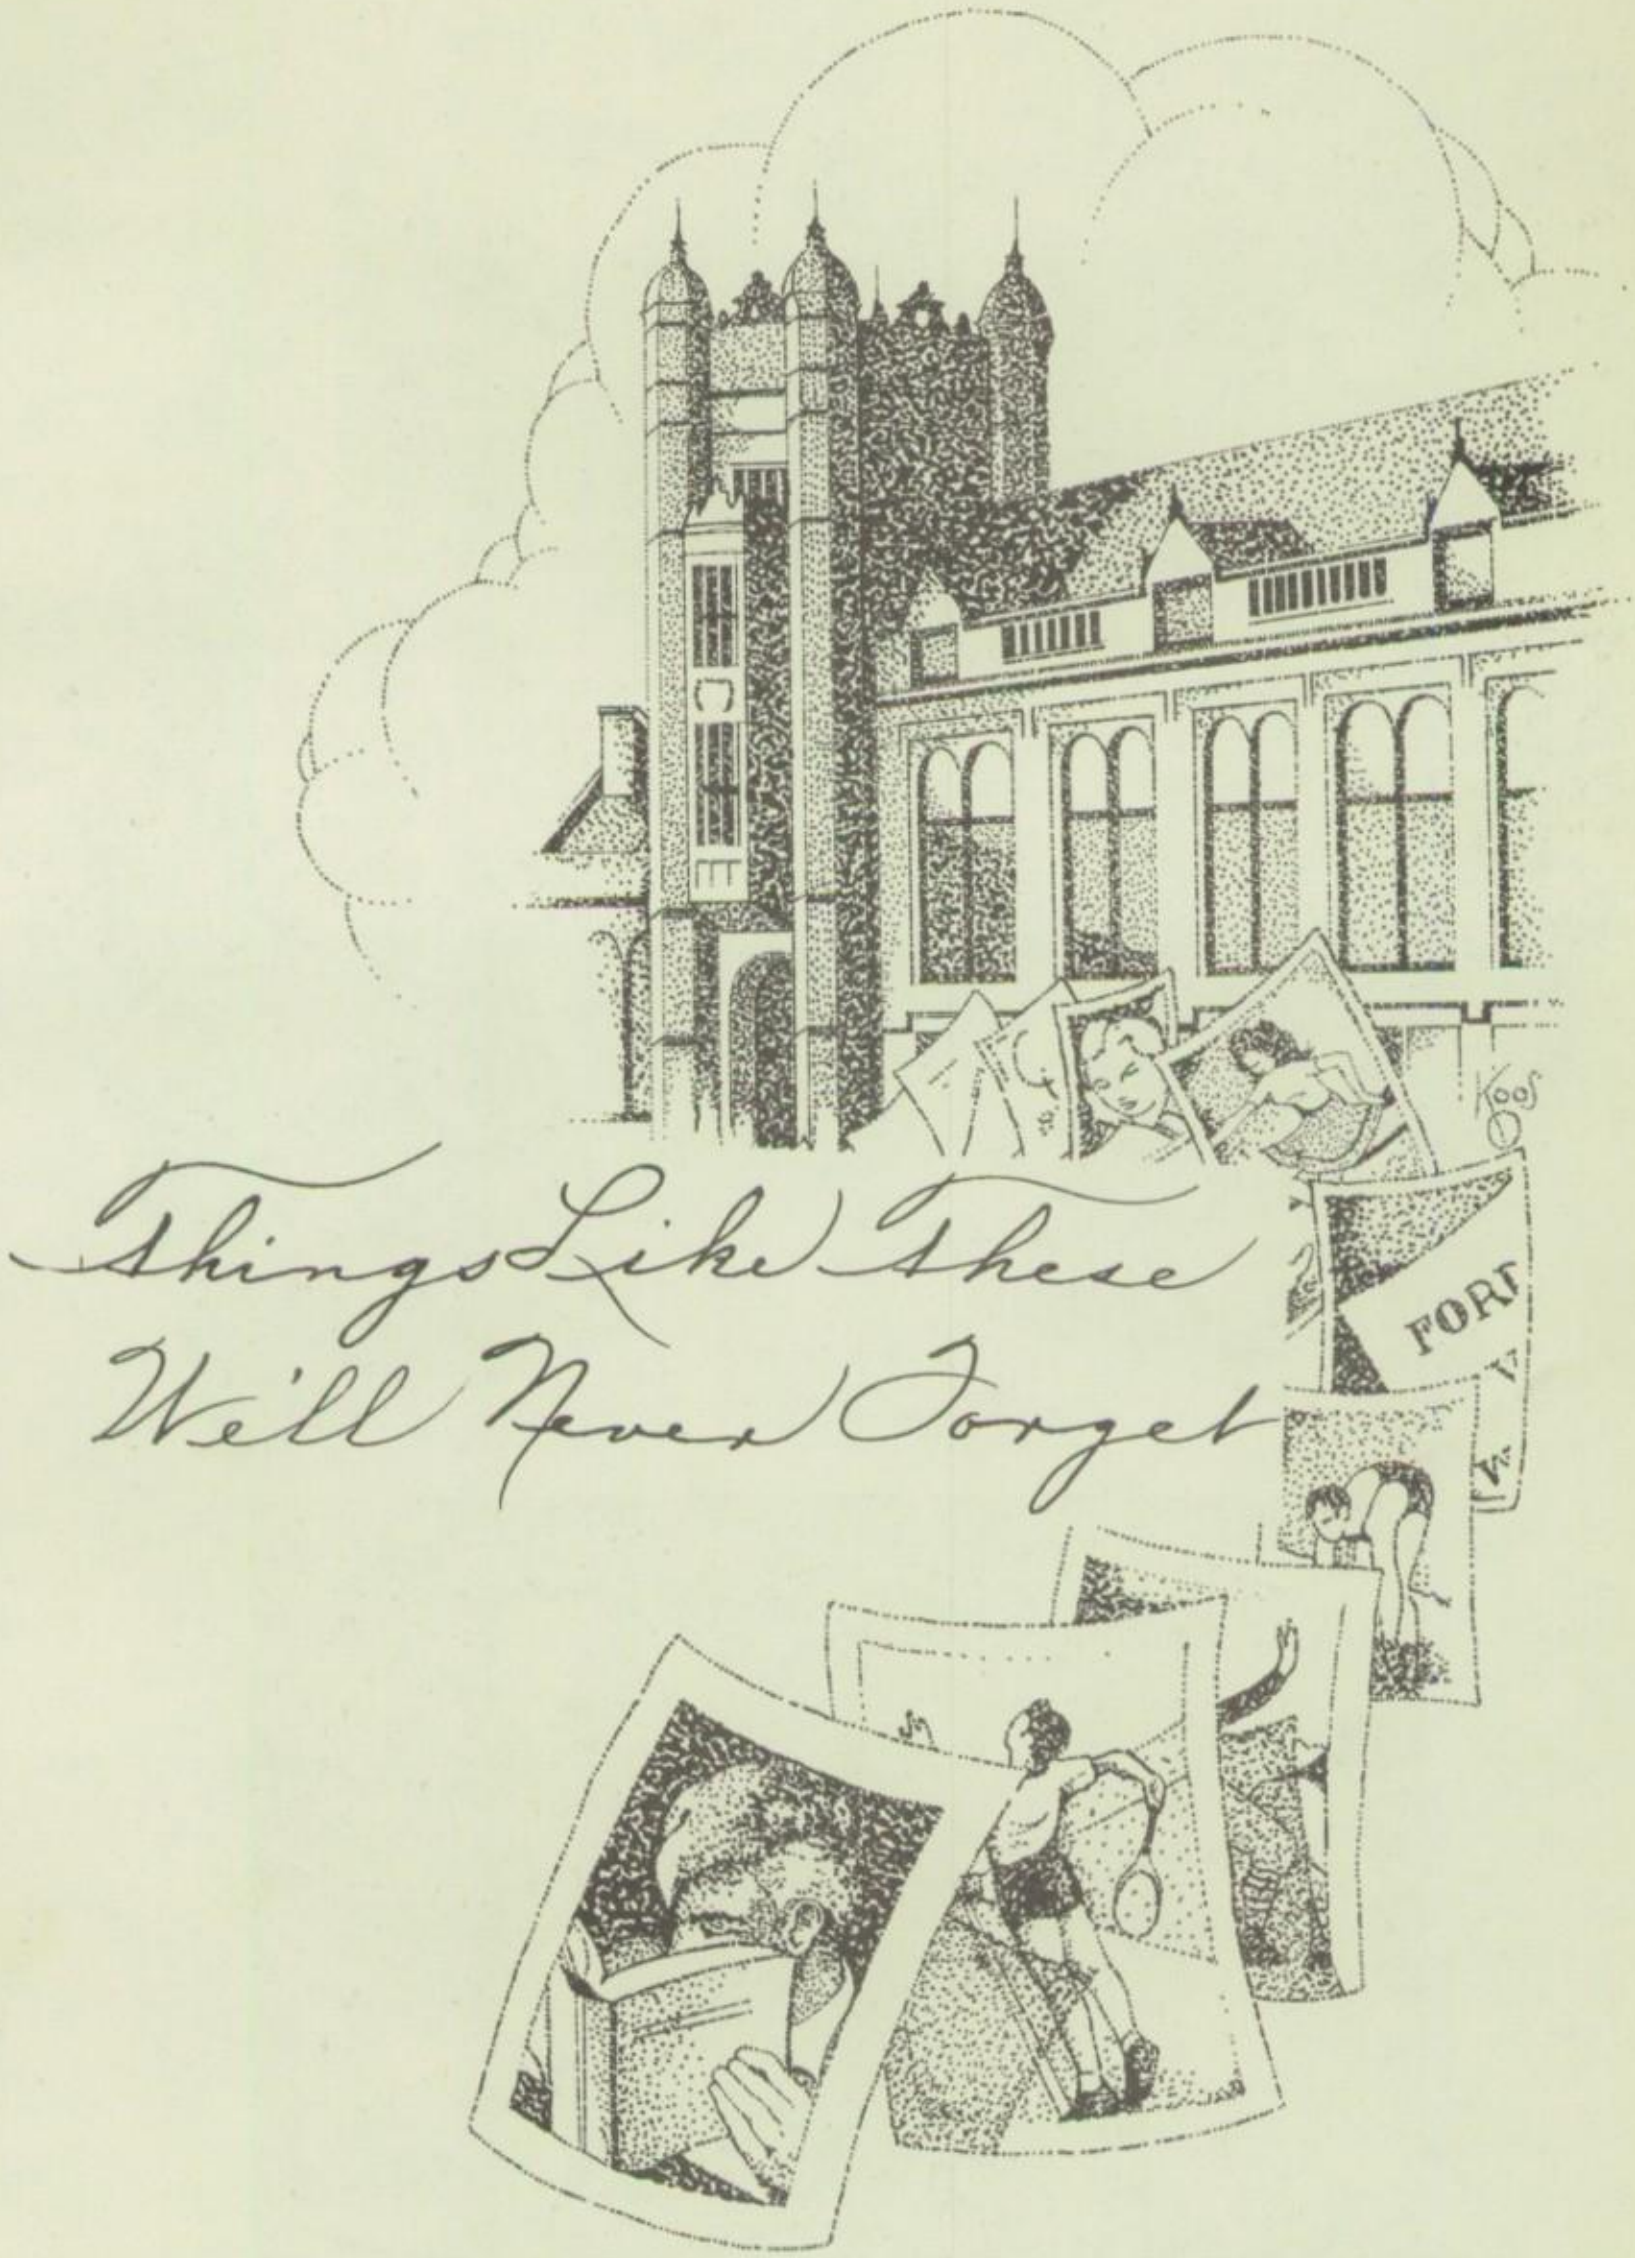
It is their purpose to promote good sportsmanship throughout the school.



Things Like These
We'll Never Forget

All work and no play--not Fordson! During the school year there are many activities that occupy the time to a student. Listed on the school calender are the football games, dances, assemblies, elections, and many other events that the student remembers.

The Students of Fordson attend many sports events throughout the year. Be it at a football game or at a basketball game, the band and the majorettes are there to entertain us. The majorette at the left is ARVELLA ENGELLAU

After the game or after school students gather at the corner store for refreshments, to talk over the game, or discuss a bit of homework that seems to be troubling them.

Not many people in the world today have the priviledge of expressing their opinions, but we in this country do and the students at Fordson take advantage of it. Pictured here is ANNE MARIIE TALCH dropping a letter in the letter box which will be read by the editor of the school paper and may be printed in the Forum, a column in the Tower Tribune. Students may also submit their ideas to their governing body, the student council.

Campaigns always preceed elections, an election here is no exception. Many offices are held by representatives who are elected by the student body to represent them in the student council. Taking an active part in the campaign by putting up signs for their favorite candidate are ELEANOR ROMANUK, BILL SOUR, AND AL PASIUK. Elections are held bi-annually to fill vacant offices.

Dances are held both after school and in the evening for those who find relaxation in dancing. Enjoying each others company we find MAE STRULL WITH WILLIAM ALLSOP, JEANETTE CARMON WITH JACK MUTCH, AND ANNE MARIE TALCH WITH HAROLD OLEASZEWSKI.

One of the many interesting assemblies we had was the one entitled "Song Hits of 1940 (B.C.)" which was given by JESSE P. ROBERTSON, who appears here in Palestinian costume playing the shoulder harp.

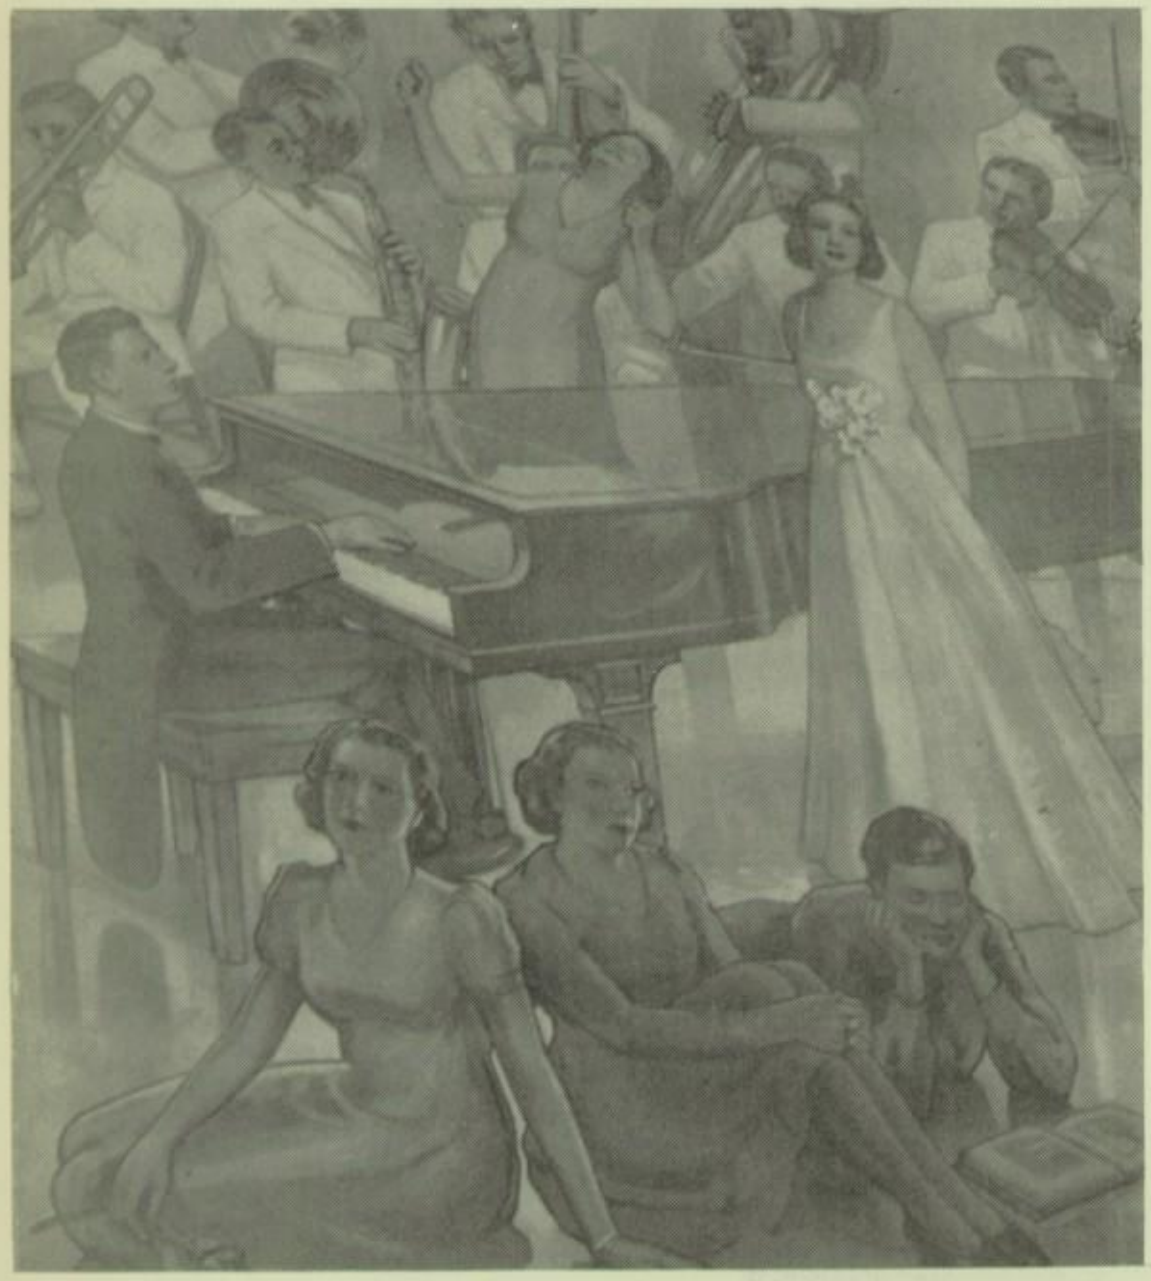
The click of typewriters was heard no more, text books were closed and shoved to the far end of the desk, attention was focused toward the radio. Everyone was listening to the World Series games between the Detroit Tigers and the Cincinnati Reds.

Of the many fine works of art that meet one's eye as he walks through Fordson's halls the most familiar to all students is Flying Mercury. He greets us every day as we pass the main entrance.

When the smell of pine reaches our noses as we pass the main stairway we know that it is Christmas. To add to the Christmas fun of caroling in the halls, having a special assembly, the Hi-Y purchase a large Christmas tree.

A scence familiar to all, the halls at any time. Friendships made in high school continue on through life.

Lounging on the grass during the lunch hour is a favorite pastime of the students. They can often be seen relaxing, reading, or studying for the next hour class.



This picture is just a part of the large mural that covers the front wall of west study hall. Truly, this fine work of art is studied a great deal. A typical picture is that of a student with his textbook open before him looking up at the mural and finding something new each time.

At the end of C corridor is a picturesque window seat. Students sit down to study. During the semester usually one or two linger there, but when testing time rolls around you see it as it is pictured here.

FORDSON AND BAY CITY TIE, 6-6

Chosen to dedicate Bay City's new Stadium, Fordson did so in a fashionable manner by holding Central's highly-rated team to a tie. Fordson's lone score came in the first period on an off tackle smash by STAN CZARNOTA, from the ten yard line.

FORDSON OVERPOWERS MONROE, 19-0

Fordson acclaimed itself as a contender for the Border Cities League Championship by trouncing Monroe in its first home-showing game. The Tractors stopped the Monroe Trojans cold in their tracks as they displayed their spectacular plays and power. Credit has to be given to TED KURILUK for his outstanding and aggressive play, both on defense and offense.

FORDSON EDGES SAGINAW, 7-6

By edging out Saginaw in a close battle on the Tractor's home grounds, Fordson extended its winning streak to two games. "BUTCH" O'HARA, hard plunging fullback on the Tractor eleven, went over in the first quarter for Fordson's only tally. The place kick after the touchdown proved to be the deciding factor of the game.

FORDSON BEATS OUT-STATE OPPONENT

With Toledo Catholic Central seeking revenge for the set-back handed them by the Tractor eleven a year ago, Fordson gravely disappointed the highly spirited Central team by handing them a hard felt defeat. As usual, STAN CZARNOTA displayed his football ability by going over for Fordson's only score. With victory came grief, with the injury of DICK SCANLONG, star quarterback of the first eleven.

MT. CLEMENS HANDS DEFEAT TO FORDSON

The abruised and battered Tractor eleven fell victims to the highly favored Mt. Clemens team, League Champions of a year ago. Outplayed and outweighed heavily by the Bathers, Fordson's hobe of victory diminished as the game proceeded. A safety in the first quarter proved to be the Tractor's lone tally.

FORDSON SUFFERS DEFEAT BY ROYAL OAK

Still recovering from the defeat handed them in the previous week by Mt. Clemens, the Fordson Tractors were knocked out of the top division of the Border Cities League by a powerful Royal Oak team. Although the Tractor eleven fought desperately in the dying minutes of the game, their efforts proved of-no avail.

SPIRITED ELEVEN LICKS GROSSE POINTE

After suffering two successive defeats, Fordson regained its old winning stride by defeating its bitter rivals, the Millionaires, 19-0. With cooperation of the foreward wall, and consistent line plunges by "BUTCH" O'HARA, *the Tractors crashed through for three touchdowns--*STAN CZARNOTA scored twice and HOWARD PINGSTON once. BUD SCHLIEF connected for an extra point.

VICTORY REVENGES LAST YEAR'S DEFEAT

The Tractor grid team ended its 1940 football season by giving Coach WHALEN a farewell gift--a brilliant victory over the Wyandotte Bears, 26-0. The Tractors proved too much for the Bears.

Thus ended Fordson's 1940 grid season, with a total of five victories, two defeats, and one tie.

SUMMARY OF 1940 FOOTBALL SEASON

The official closing of the 1940 football season brought out the 16th annual football bust, which featured some of the outstanding state figures of the sport world; such as COACH BACHMAN, of Michigan State, MILO SUKUP, TIPPY LOCKARD, JOHNNY PINGLE, KID MCKOY, and the all-state team selector of The Free Press, Marshall Dan. Members of the team were introduced and letters were awarded.

With the assistance of MR. WALTER JANIK, former Fordson Alumnus and coach at Salina Junior High School, COACH WHALEN successfully put together an outstanding team. Although it was not a championship team, it was a hard fighting eleven which came out on top in five of its eight games. MR. WHALEN couldn't substitute freely, however, and most of the heavy burden rested on the shoulders of the first team.

Graduation will take a majority of dependable players from both the first and second teams. Long will be remembered the consistent line plunges of "BUTCH" O'HARA, the accurate bullet-like passing and punting of STAN CZARNOTA, the sticky, pass-snatching fingers of HOWARD PINGSTON, the superb signal calling of DICK SCANLON, and the brilliant play of TED KRUILUK.

Through the willingness of these boys, and many others, COACH WHALEN was able to put together a good and powerful team. May he have a better and stronger team next season--a winning combination!

SEASON SUMMARY
J. C. BASKETBALL

The 1940-41 basketball season was an important one for the Fordson J. C. team--not because of a large number of games won, but because they gained something which will help them in years to come--experience. It was this vital factor that seemed to be lacking this season, but the team succeeded in defeating Grand Rapids, Flint, and Highland Park, the three "toughest" teams in the Conference. The latter finally won the Conference Title.

JOE ABDOO, the outstanding member of his team this season, was chosen for the forward position in the all-state Junior College Conference. He also rated third highest in the junior college scoring race with 192 points.

It is the hope of the Junior College that, with the help of Coach Janik they will emerge with a championship team next season.

LEAGUE CHAMPS AGAIN!

Fordson's 1941 basketball team closed the season with a record of winning 13 out of 15 games, and the Border Cities League championship intact for the sixth time in seven years.

In June graduation will take four valuable players; STAN CZARNOTA, VIC TATARANOWICZ, JIM HEALY, and DALE JOHNSON. TOM MEYER, KEN BALGE, SAM PETLICHKOFF, AL BLACHA, and HAROLD GOWING will graduate in January. Following the graduation of these two classes, COACH CATHERMAN will be left with only one letter man, MIKE FARNYK.

CAPTAIN TOM MEYER scored 130 points during the season in the fourteen games he played. This is a new school record. He was picked for the second all state Free Press team. VICTOR TATARNOWICZ was given honorable mention at the same selection.

SWIMMERS SPLASH TO VICTORY

The Fordson Tankers had a tough season ahead of them in December, because of a weak team resulting from the graduation of the strong swimmers of the preceding year, namely BEN HOLMGRAIN, MICKEY ELLIOT, and WALTER GARDNER. The only experienced bathers were the veterans ANDY CHAPMAN, HALDANE MATTESON, and MASON EVERETT. In the diver's seat, GEORGE DARIBAN did the flips and half-gainers, with ED SOLOWAY as an understudy. In the race for the top breast-stroke was LEONARD MORGAN; MASON EVERETT took over duties of number one back-stroke.

The first meet took place at Fordson with Western High. Lack of experience brought defeat for the Tankers, 35-49. Recovering in time to win the second meet, Fordson beat Ypsilanti in the Ypsi pool, 48-36. GEORGE DARIBAN, the only diver for Fordson, took first place.

By taking five firsts and four seconds, the Fordson Tankers victimized the Royal Oak nators, 50-31. HALDANE MATTESON and ANDY CHAPMAN took the majority of firsts.

The next three meets spelled defeat for the Fordson tankers, against Jackson, Wyandotte, and Grosse Pointe.

Again the swimmers recovered to find victory in the next four meets. Against Pontiac in the Fordson pool, February 3, the score was 50-34. On February 7, Fordson visited Mt. Clemens, and defeated them in their own pool, 58-26.

Victory over Monroe, February 14, moved Fordson up to a deadlock with Grosse Pointe for second place honors in the Border Cities League standings. Taking firsts in nearly every event the blue and gold of Fordson swam to an easy 57-26 triumph over River Rouge, their final aquatic opponents.

COACH KAZLUSKY'S tankers placed second in the third annual regional swimming meet held here February 22. The Fordson nators trailed the Wyandotte team, which won the meet. by four points. The Fordson relay team set a new mark of 1:45.2 in their event, bettering the old Fordson record. MASON EVERETT kept up his good work this season by tying the 1:09.8 mark in the 100 yard back-stroke when he took first in this event.

The result of the 40-41 season for the Fordson Tankers was the winning of six meets out of ten and placing second in the Border Cities League.

TRACK

Although the track season isn't completed, it is not expected that Fordson will place particularly high in the state meet. This is due to the team being made up almost entirely of sophomores.

In spite of his inexperienced team, Coach KAZLUSKY has at least two very valuable veterans in the persons of BUD SCHLEIF, shot-putter, and SAM PETLICHKOFF, hurdler. BUD will undoubtedly win the regional meet, held May 17 in Ferndale, and SAM will place high. It will be up to these two boys to gain a large number of points for Fordson.

Coaches SAVAGE, KAZLUSKY, and JANIK.

Among the many and varied activities that the girls can participate in, dancing holds top honors.

Basketball was originated by JAMES NAISMITH in 1891 and has become a well-known sport with girls as well as boys. MARY MORSE, MARY YAGNISIAZAK, SHIRLEY DEMMONS, SYLVIA MORSE, MARY BOYLE, (in the top row) and DOROTHY LINVILLE, MARILYN ALLEN, JUNE LAYTON and BERNADINE REED (in the bottom row), were on the winners in the consolation tournament.

Look out girls, here it comes. ELLEN MURPHY really means business when she gets up to bat while playing the nation's most popular game, baseball. LILLIAN DRUMMOND, the pitcher, does-not fool as she "burns one in."

A little action in a game of fleld hockey has never hurt anyone except caused a lot of excitement. Above is a pretty good example and--need we say any more?

WANDA BROWNFIELD, CLARA BELSIK, and DORIS PORTER can't honestly say that diving improves the apearance any.

Swimming in the "olden days" was a means of transportation. Now it's a year 'round sport. Here DELPHINE MONIUSZKO swims the length of the pool.

When spring arrives, many a young couples thoughts turn to---tennis. Here ANDRENE BAXTER practices for their next set.
